

$30,000 Budget Asked to Fight Kingston Heroin Battle

KINGSTON There are "conservatively" between 200 and 250 heroin addicts in the city of Kingston. They need more than a million dollars a year to support their habits.

Or, as Dr. Elmer S. McKay told the Common Council Tuesday night, "If you had a choice between the sales tax and what they steal in a year, take what they steal." Kingston receives $1.1 million a year in sales tax receipts.

Dr. McKay, as chairman of the Kingston Narcotics Guidance Council, was presenting his 1972 budget to the aldermen prior to the regular Common Council meeting at city hall.

McKay seeks approval of a "bare bones budget" of $30,466, up from this year's $4,360. "Economically, $30,000 is peanuts for the city of Kingston," McKay said. "A heroin addict can steal $30,000 a year by himself."

The Narcotics Guidance Council wants to establish a store front office under the proposed budget and staff it with a director and an assistant director, at $10,000 and $8,000 a year respectively, from the Renaissance program.

As Dr. McKay sees it, the store front, or education center would "plug a serious hole in our program." The Guidance Council operates a program out of Kingston Hospital where it received 914 telephone calls and 132 visits during the year from July 15, 1970 to Aug. 31, 1971.

Bernard Farrell, principal of M.J.M. Junior High School and a member of the Guidance Council, outlined the problem this way, "99 per cent of our calls are from young people. But something is missing. We seem to have a communications gap. A store front can fill it."

As McKay sees the operation in 1972, members of the Guidance Council would work with adults, parents, police, the judiciary, while the store front, under control of the Guidance Council, would work directly with the youth. "And we'll all work together," McKay said.

"It's been generally agreed that prison and some of the rehabilitation programs we have are not the answer," McKay said. "The rate of return (to addiction) is well above 90 per cent."

The methadone program touches "only a small or portion of the addicts," McKay said. "Officials at Hudson River State Hospital (where the Dutchess County methadone program is administered) figured that Ulster County would have a methadone program involving about 40 persons. We had 42 show up the first night. Now they figure that our program will be bigger than the one in Dutchess."

Dutchess County's population is almost three times that of Ulster's. McKay sees the store front as a multiple use operation involving treatment of addicts, a place where young people can come in for drug information and advice and perhaps most important of all, a drug preventive center. "There are numerous pre-addicts in the 12 to 20-year-old range who know about drugs and are interested in them," McKay said. "We have to reach them."

The two men operating the store front will be ex-addicts themselves, McKay said. They will be "clean graduates" of the 18-month program at New Rochelle with up to three years total training. "I realize that $10,000 and $8,000 a year may sound high for men in their early 20's," McKay said, "but one of the things we were concerned about was whether we were paying them enough under the minimum wage law. These guys work 70 to 80 hours a week."

McKay said he has been looking for store front sites and has two or three in mind. The store front will not be located on either Broadway or in the Uptown business district. "We want it to be accessible but not obvious," McKay said.

Approval Given Andretta Units At Uptown Site

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON The Common Council approved Route 9 Corporation as qualified and eligible developer to construct apartments in the Uptown Urban Renewal project at its Tuesday night meeting but the shadow of another proposed 10-story apartment complex loomed large.

Route 9 Corporation is owned by James V. Andretta Sr. of Kingston. He got the go-ahead from the Common Council last night which set an Oct. 22 date at 8:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers for a public hearing. Jerry Corbetta is president of Corbetta Enterprises of Poughkeepsie. Corbetta wants to construct a 10-story apartment complex in the uptown project. Corbetta's proposal has been in the Urban Renewal Committee's files for the past three months.

John P. Heitzman, alderman of the ward where both projects are proposed, argued that the Corbetta proposal should be debated on the Council floor before any action is taken on the Andretta proposal. Heitzman said that there was a greater need for the Corbetta complex, a 180-unit building with rents catering to persons in the $6,000 to $12,000 a year bracket while Andretta's 140-unit complex would charge rents, according to Heitzman, in the $300 to $400 a month range. Heitzman also argued that Corbetta had his proposal to build in the urban renewal area in before Andretta's and should be considered first.

He made a motion to table the Andretta proposal until the Council acted one way or the other on the Corbetta proposal. His motion was defeated 10-3. Aldermen Edward Norton (D-11th Ward) and Emilio Primo (D-8th) voting with him.

Primo argued that Andretta already had approval from the Council to build off Flatbush Avenue on property he owns and that he should produce something there before going to work Uptown. Several months ago, Andretta said he would build both projects.

Andretta's project is proposed on a four-acre site off Murphy Street. The negotiated cost of the land was $95,000.

In other action, the aldermen approved Mayor Francis R. Koenig's proposal under the Federal Emergency Employment Act of 1971, administered by Ulster County.

The mayor is asking for 33 workers in the $2.25 to $2.50 per hour range for such projects as repair of guard rails, cutting of brush, leaf collection, repair of snow equipment, snow removal and collections of salvageable materials. He also asks for the two clerks in the city treasurer's office at $5,000 each.

The aldermen also approved Ronder and Ronder as auditors on the city's books for a fee of $4,500. Alderman Clifford G. Sinsabaugh (D-10th Ward) contended that the city was wasting its money on that firm, charging that its audits were incomplete. He said that a state "audit in 1969 showed many discrepancies" in the city's fiscal operations that should have been picked up by Ronder and Ronder. Alderman John L. Machione (R-Second Ward) reported that Ronder and Ronder were "doing the job they were paid for."

Alderman Norton and Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward) asked that letters be written to State Senator Jay P. Rolison and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell requesting them to introduce legislation allowing municipalities to set speed limits around park areas lower than the 25 miles per hour now set by the state.

There was a good deal of discussion about truck routes in the city. Alderman Peter Mancuso (D-12th Ward), chairman of the Traffic Committee, said his committee had been unable to solve the problem and said he would call a meeting of the entire Council after election to work on it.

The week of Oct. 18-23 was declared Daily Freeman Week in Kingston in honor of the newspaper which is marking its 100th anniversary on Oct. 18. The Council went on record citing The Freeman for its service to the community over the past century.

A three-man assessment review board was named, effective Oct. 1, including Roland Augustine, James Devine and Kenneth Hyatt. The green in front of city hall, donated to the city by the Kingston Veterans Association for a permanent memorial was officially named "Veterans Memorial Site."

In addition, the meeting was adjourned in honor of the four armed services recruiters who marched 100 miles Sept. 30-Oct. 1 to raise funds for the memorial. The marchers included Sgt. Michael Bordick of the Air Force, Sgt. Francis Frazier of the Army, Petty Officer First Class Kenneth Thorpe of the Navy and Marine Sgt. Donald Misner.

WEST SHORE HOTEL COMES DOWN—Demolition crews are busy leveling one of the city's oldest buildings, the West Shore Hotel on Railroad Avenue. The building has been vacant for years and had fallen into a state of disrepair. Owners of the property, Modjeska Sign Studios, plan a parking lot on the site. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Four Killed, Five Injured In Ulster, Dutchess Crashes

By WALTER S. CLARK

TOWN OF ULSTER

Four persons lost their lives and five others were severely injured in motor vehicle collisions that occurred on Tuesday in the Town of Ulster, New York.

The fatal accident occurred on Route 9W in the Town of Ulster involving vehicles driven by Ronald Cline, 25, of the Greene County community of Westkill, and 46-year-old Fernan DuBost of RD 3, Box 459, Saugerties.

The fatal accident occurred on Route 9W in the Town of Ulster involving vehicles driven by Ronald Cline, 25, of the Greene County community of Westkill, and 46-year-old Fernan DuBost of RD 3, Box 459, Saugerties.

A report of BCI Investigator

John F. Salters, Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes and Troopers J. H. Ingellis and E. A. Zeborin noted that Cline was traveling north on the highway when his vehicle reportedly veered across a double dividing line and was in a head-on collision with the DuBost car. Both vehicles were heavily damaged in the crash.

Roy G. Turk, 19, of Lexington, Greene County, a passenger in the Cline vehicle was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance. He was pronounced dead of multiple injuries on arrival at the hospital. Cline was taken to the Kingston Hospital suffering severe fractures of facial bones and ribs, and later he was transferred to Albany Medical Center Hospital by Fatum's ambulance.

DuBost and his daughter, Michelle, 9, were taken to trude Hinchey, 65, of 2336 Laconia Avenue, Bronx, was taken to Kingston Hospital where she died later of multiple injuries. The operator of the vehicle was also taken to the same hospital and treated for multiple lacerations and contusions.

The mishap was investigated by Patrolman William Taggard. The deaths of Turk and the Bronx woman boosted the Ulster County highway death toll for 1971 to 40. The 40th traffic death in the county in 1970 occurred on Route 9W in the Town of Saugerties on Oct. 17.

Rhinebeck State Police investigated the double death crash that occurred Tuesday on Taconic Parkway in the Dutchess County town of Stanford. Fatally injured in the mishap were Miss Patricia A. Wray, 25, of 299 Sheridan Avenue and Miss Margaret M. Pero, 22, of 10 Benson Street, both of Albany.

The two were graduate nurses on their way to New York City to take new positions at the Albert E. Einstein Hospital. They had graduated in the same class in 1970 from St. Peter's Hospital School of Nursing in Albany.

Police said Miss Wray was driving her compact car south on the parkway when it was involved in a head-on collision with a northbound vehicle driven by Edward Rigney, 54, of Poughkeepsie, and then went out of control and careened into the path of the Wray vehicle.

Both women were crushed in the wreckage of the small car. McBride was taken to St. Francis' Hospital in Poughkeepsie. He suffered head and facial lacerations. Police said Rigney apparently was not injured in the spectacular collision.

Chou Interviewed by Americans Discusses Nixon, China Plans

PEKING (UPI) — Premier Chou En-lai met with about 60 Americans Tuesday night and told them that Mao Tse-tung was the man responsible for inviting the U.S. ping pong team to China, an invitation which led to a thaw in Sino-American relations.

During his two-hour meeting with the Americans, who included Black Panther party leader Huey P. Newton and former U.S. State Department officer John Service, Chou limited his discussion to a free-wheeling discourse on China's foreign policy and did not refer to the current internal situation in China.

In addition to discussing Mao's role in the Sino-American thaw, Chou also said:

—China agrees with President Nixon that this is now an era of negotiations, but Chinese leaders also believe that, if necessary, it is an era of armed struggle.

—China is willing to negotiate its border dispute with Russia, using the 19th century territorial treaties as the basis for talks.

—China is keeping an open mind on Nixon's visit: "It is all right if the talks succeed and it is all right if the talks fail."

—No matter how far negotiations go, China will never let her guard down and stop preparing for war.

Chou said the decision to invite the U.S. ping pong players was made by Mao at a time when the ministry of foreign affairs and the U.S. State Department attitude was to wait for a while. He said he himself was looking over a preliminary foreign ministry dispatch regarding the U.S. table tennis team when it was in Japan when Mao decided on an immediate invitation.

"There were two messages, but the world only knows the second," Chou said.

Discussing Nixon's visit, Chou said, "He (Nixon) publicly expressed his willingness to come to China and negotiate. We had made no response; it would not have been proper for a state so antagonistic. Therefore we agreed to (presidential advisor Henry Kissinger's) coming."

"For us, it is all right if the talks succeed and it is all right if they fail," Chou said.

At this point, about 30 minutes before a simultaneous announcement was to be made in Washington and Peking about Kissinger's second trip to Peking, Chou told the Americans of the presidential assistant's visit.

"This time Kissinger is coming openly," Chou said. The Chinese premier said China's willingness to negotiate was nothing new. "We did this (negotiate) with the arch enemy Chiang Kai-shek for almost 10 years."

Referring to Nixon's statement that the current era is one of negotiations, Chou said it was indeed "an era of negotiations—and one of struggle by armed force."

"As for us, we do not like armed struggle and we do not provoke others. Not only have we not gone to Long Island, we have not gone to Honolulu. Even with the U.S. Navy in the Taiwan strait, we are for negotiations."

History has taught China important lessons, Chou said. "If we are only prepared for negotiations without preparing against armed war, that is not good," he said.

Chou only briefly mentioned the United Nations situation, saying there had been no change from the foreign ministry statement issued in August, China firmly opposes two Chinas, one China, one Taiwan; and any independent Taiwan. All were unacceptable, he said, and if anything the third even less so.

Chou said, however, he hoped to see more Americans visiting China. "More and more have been coming," he said. "Though Japanese visitors have been the most numerous, the number of Americans coming should catch up with them in the 1970's."

Owner Jailed Again

KINGSTON Monday afternoon and charged with second degree obscenity after the Adult Book Store was raided by police. Fenner appeared before City Court Judge Hubert A. Richter Tuesday morning, and was allowed to remain free on $250 bail until he could retain an attorney.

Shortly after leaving City Court Tuesday police said Fenner returned to the store and knowingly sold several other allegedly obscene books and magazines to a police undercover agent.

The man was arrested immediately, and charged again with second degree obscenity. Bail was set at $2,500, and Fenner was jailed when he could not come up with the money.

Fenner was due for another appearance before Judge Richter today.

NOW AT THE TABLE—Missing from the royal table at state banquet honoring Emperor Hirohito of Japan and hosted by Britain's Queen Elizabeth II in London Tuesday night was Earl Mountbatten of Burma, a hero of the campaign against Japan in World War II, who had a "prior engagement." Two Arraignments for Dutchess Couple

NEW YORK (UPI)—A Dutchess County couple accused of kidnaping a real estate man from Queens was arraigned in Brooklyn Criminal Court and ordered held in lieu of $75,000 bail Tuesday night. It was the second arraignment of the day for the couple.

Ramazan Kotori, 36, and his wife, Manda, 30, of Wappingers Falls were arraigned the first time in Manhattan, but an assistant district attorney told the judge that the evidence indicated the alleged kidnaping took place in Brooklyn.

The couple was transferred across the Brooklyn Bridge and arraigned again before Judge Harry Donnelly.

The couple is accused of kidnaping Jasper Canzoneri, 54, on Sept. 24, and holding the man, a brother of the late world lightweight champion Tony Canzoneri, in a Beacon apartment. The couple allegedly demanded a ransom of $250,000.

The Kotoris claim Canzoneri and three associates swindled them out of $600,000 in rare coins which they had put up as collateral for a loan. The couple claims they never got the loan, and the coins were not returned.

At the Manhattan arraignment, Assistant District Attorney Richard Schaefer told Criminal Court Judge Dennis Edwards that the Kotoris picked up Canzoneri in Manhattan and then drove him to Brooklyn. Schaefer said an investigation revealed Canzoneri had gone to Brooklyn voluntarily, and then was allegedly kidnaped. Edwards ordered the Manhattan charges dismissed and turned the defendants over to detectives from Brooklyn waiting in court.

Canzoneri was freed by state troopers and FBI agents after the FBI traced a telephone call to the Beacon apartment. The ransom was never paid.

RV Studies A Dilemma

By JON POWERS

KYSERIKE

The Rondout Valley Central Schools District has found itself in a unique position this school year. It has too many teachers.

At Tuesday night's Board of Education meeting, Superintendent of Schools Robert Robertaccio explained the dilemma to the board and a large gathering of taxpayers.

Robertaccio reported that in the past two or three years student enrollment has increased by about 200 pupils each year. The superintendent's office and the Board of Education this year planned on the same enrollment increase, so an additional 11 teachers were hired.

But, said Robertaccio, RVC enrollment figures fell far short of the number projected for this fall. As a result, too many teachers were hired.

The excess teachers, hired under contract for one year, have been deployed throughout the district. In some cases, their appearance has helped to streamline operations and reduce class loads.

But some district taxpayers are more concerned with the additional $100,000-$130,000 budgeted to pay their salaries.

Now, the Board of Education is trying to determine why, and how, the overestimation was made; what can be done about it, and what to do with the additional teachers. The matter is now under study, and no decision was made at Tuesday's meeting.

In other matters, the board approved the addition of one staff member to assist Bruce Clark in running the school's popular intramural football program.

Woodstock Budget Up $43,000

WOODSTOCK preliminary budget got a reading Tuesday night by the Town Board and figures for the coming year show the budget is up some $43,000 over last year. Monies to be raised by taxes, or the total amount of the 1972 budget, even out at $372,666.94.

Some of the increase can be accounted for in the Highway Fund. A new road improvement plan will take effect next April and the town has agreed to enter into the project by appropriating $13,860 for this venture. It was pointed out, however, that a 25 per cent reimbursement will come back to Woodstock from the State when the project is completed.

Accounting for the $179,663.44 total Highway Fund were other jumps, in spite of efforts by the Town Board "to hold highway increases to a minimum."

But with higher prices being charged for materials necessary for road building and road maintenance, an increase is reflected in this category.

The highway budget takes the biggest slice. It's $179,663.44 is a substantial jump ahead of the $154,602.50 earmarked for the General Fund.

A new item which has helped to increase the budget is the $10,000 annual salary that will be paid to the town's first full-time assessor, a figure never before reflected in the budget. There will also be an increase in the town's allocation for the recently instituted Emergency Dispatch Service.

A public hearing on the preliminary budget has been set by the Town Board for Thursday, Nov. 4 at 8 p.m.

Nixon Awaits Report Before Dock Order

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon awaited the report of an investigatory board today before deciding whether to seek a court injunction under the Taft-Hartley law to order striking dock workers back on the job.

White House spokesmen said they expected the five-member board appointed by the President Monday to submit its report on dock strike negotiations sometime today.

Unless the board finds evidence of an early breakthrough in negotiations, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, a back-to-work order will be sought against 15,000 striking West Coast longshoremen.

Another 45,000 dock workers are striking at Eastern and Gulf Coast ports from Maine to Texas. The administration will decide on the basis of the report whether to include them in back-to-work orders.

Should a court grant an injunction, striking workers will have to go back for an 80-day cooling off period.

A new negotiating session was scheduled in Washington today to try to end the six-day-old strike by 80,000 soft coal miners.

In the first intervention in the dispute by a federal official, Labor Secretary James D.

Hodgson told coal operators and United Mine Workers Union leaders Tuesday that they should not use the administration's wage-price freeze policies as an excuse to delay a settlement.

"More than 200 agreements have been reached since the onset of the freeze."

Union sources have charged the talks were stalled because mine operators were holding out for details of Nixon's post-freeze controls. However, a spokesman for the operators denied they were refusing to bargain because of the government controls. But he did concede that the "lack of information on phase II has complicated negotiations."

Two-China Plan — Doubt Rogers Success

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers is turning an increasing amount of his time to the effort to keep Nationalist China in the United Nations, but many foreign diplomats are doubtful he will succeed.

These sources say the United States has not picked up significant strength despite Rogers' heavy emphasis on voting the Peking government membership while keeping a seat for the Nationalists.

The secretary met Tuesday with officials of more than a dozen nations and dealt overwhelmingly with the China question. More of the same was expected in his meetings today with 10 more foreign ministers.

U.S. officials say the meetings held over the last two weeks have done nothing to dispel their cautious optimism that the American plan will succeed when final voting starts, probably early next month.

One official said the feeling is that the vote while very close, will be in favor of keeping the Taiwan government in the General Assembly but turning China's Security Council seat over to Peking.

Although American sources said the Tuesday meetings turned up commitments to the U.S. plan from some governments—Gabon and Senegal were mentioned—they indicted Rogers' efforts have not changed the headcount significantly.

But diplomats from other nations said many governments are reluctant to back the U.S. proposals because they don't want to endanger their own relations with Mainland China.

With Peking certain to be voted into the United Nations, they explain, many nations don't see any percentage in making a stand in favor of a seat for the Nationalists, especially after Peking's renewed threats it will not accept any form of a two-Chinas policy.

In other areas of China policy, U.S. officials refused to link Rogers' talks about China to the Tuesday announcement that presidential advisor Henry Kissinger will go to the mainland this month to plan for President Nixon's upcoming trip.

Rogers, they said, knew of the Kissinger development when he restated the U.S. dedication to keeping the Nationalists in the United Nation in his Monday speech to the General Assembly.

House Passage Seen on Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House planned to bring to a quick vote today President Nixon's proposal to cut taxes $15.4 billion over three years as a means of stimulating the sluggish economy.

House leaders predicted passage despite a last-minute appeal by the AFL-CIO for the bill's defeat. The labor organization described the measure as a "giant raid on the federal Treasury that would transfer billions of dollars in public funds into the private treasuries of big business."

Nixon hopes to offset some of the revenue losses resulting from the tax cuts by postponing for six months an annual $2.6 billion pay increases for four million military men and federal employees. That plan faced another challenge in the Senate today.

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., said he would force a Senate vote on his amendment which puts the Jan. 1 increase of nearly 5.5 per cent into effect unless Nixon holds down nongovernmental pay increases to less than that when the wage-price freeze ends Nov. 13.

The Mathias proposal, if approved, would have to be accepted by the House before becoming law. By a vote of 207 to 174 Monday, the House rejected a move to nullify Nixon's decision to postpone the raise.

The Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee scheduled a meeting today to consider a resolution comparable to the one defeated Monday in the House.

The personal tax exemption would be increased from $650 to $675 this year and to $750 next year.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, urged quick approval, saying the bill "will not only increase the nation's output and increase jobs, but in the long run it will fight against inflation."

House Group Ends Deadlock On Desegregation Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Education and Labor Committee has broken a deadlock of more than two months and approved a $1.5 billion bill to help schools desegregate, rejecting President Nixon's request that none of the money be spent for busing children.

The panel approved the bill on a 21-3 vote Tuesday. But the Nixon antibusing proposal is certain to be offered as an amendment to the measure when it comes before the House. It is likely the amendment will be approved.

The bill would funnel money into school districts that have been ordered by a court or federal agency to desegregate or which integrate voluntarily with the result that they must hire extra teachers, or remodel classrooms or buy extra equipment to meet desegregation standards.

a series of parliamentary maneuvers to bottle it up first in a subcommittee and then before the full committee. They objected to the measure on grounds it would give Nixon a pool of money to use to his political advantage in Southern states.

Nixon urged the committee last month to include the ban on use of funds for busing after the Supreme Court ruled that Opponents of the aid bill used busing to carry out court-ordered integration was constitutional. Nixon said he opposed widespread school busing.

The bill could come before the House within the next two weeks under administration pressure for early approval, so

President Completes Swing Of All the 50 States

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon has become the first president to visit all 50 states while in office, but few residents of the last state on his itinerary marked the event.

Nixon attended a reception for Republican party fund raisers Tuesday night at the estate of wealthy businessman John W. Rollins outside Wilmington, Del., completing the cycle of 50 states in less than 33 months.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon's visits were "consistent with the philosophy that he holds that the President should get out to visit the country."

The President met very few Delaware residents on his visit. Except for a handful of local newsmen and a few state policemen, only invited guests to the reception and the usual presidential entourage were permitted anywhere near the Rollins home.

By some counts, Nixon will not visit his 50th state until Friday when he attends the Mountain State Forest Festival in Elkins, W.Va. But the President landed in West Virginia earlier to change planes and to most observers, that was enough to include the state on the list of those he has visited.

Nixon's visit to Delaware was as brief as it was exclusive. The President arrived by Army helicopter on the grassy grounds of the estate at 6:30 p.m. and departed for the return flight to Washington almost exactly one hour later.

Guests at the champagne reception included the chairman of 22 "Salute to the President" Republican fund raising dinners to be held throughout the nation Nov. 9. The dinners will be connected by closed circuit television and Nixon is expected to attend one of them, although the White House will not say which.

Rollins, president of Rollins International, Inc., of Wilmington, is general chairman of the entire event.

Nixon was accompanied to the reception by Attorney General John N. Mitchell, who was his campaign manager in 1968 and is expected to resign from the Cabinet within the next few months to assume a similar role in the President's re-election campaign next year.

Some Movement on Paltz Pact

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

A second marathon session with PERB conciliator Irwin Kelly has again produced movement in the long-standing contract dispute in the New Paltz school system, according to both Donald Martin, president of the New Paltz Board of Education, and New Paltz Teacher negotiator Ronald Noelle.

This session began late in the afternoon Monday and lasted until about 2:15 a.m. Tuesday, Martin said.

Martin told The Freeman at the end of the session the board made a new offer to the teachers, the teachers said they would take it under consideration.

Noelle, asked by The Freeman if this meant it would be taken under "serious" consideration, said it did.

Martin said the offer made by the board was "within the dollar package the board considers acceptable."

Both he and Noelle declined to discuss the nature of the offer until the teachers' negotiation team had had a chance to discuss it with the teachers.

Noelle said the session was a "positive nature," and the offer made by the board represented a move by both parties. He said the teachers' move consisted of suggesting a new area for the board's consideration; Noelle said opening up this area for consideration represented a concession on the part of the teachers which they had not intended to make, but did in the interests of security.

Active negotiations between the board and the teachers have been going on since last April, with little detectable movement until recently. Noelle has said the teachers were conducting a job action of sorts by coming to work and leaving exactly on time, instead of coming early or staying late to do extra work.

Taylor on Kulseng Case

Statement Disputes View

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

A statement disputing some of the contentions of Edwin Ralph Kulseng, the Democratic candidate for town councilman, who was arrested on charges stemming from an incident involving Town Constable Efrain Melendez last week, has been issued by New Paltz Police Director John F. Taylor.

Kulseng has stated that he was arrested and brought to the police station on only one charge, obstructing governmental administration, and the other two charges he has against him were only instituted after he failed to bow to "intense political pressure" to sign an apology to Melendez and a waiver of arrest.

Taylor's statement says the idea of the apology and release was actually the idea of Kulseng and Barry S. Wine, Kulseng's attorney at the time of the incident. Taylor said the arrangement was agreed to after Wine consulted with Town Attorney Wendell Harp.

Taylor told The Freeman was never formally arrested until last Friday before his arraignment. The director said Kulseng resisted the arrest, and came to the town hall at the "invitation" of Village Patrolman Richard Thompson, not under arrest. He said the informations were filed against the candidate when he had failed to sign the apology and release by last Friday.

The incident in question occurred early Wednesday morning outside Kulseng's place of business, The Homestead, a local pub. Kulseng saw Melendez in the process of arresting Martin O'Connell for DWI and investigated. He either stopped the O'Connell car as it was pulling away under Melendez' direction by hanging on to the door handle or rapping on the window.

According to the information filed against him, Kulseng refused to disperse on Melendez' order, and resisted arrest by holding onto a traffic station and then fleeing back into the Homestead while Melendez called for assistance.

Taylor's statement said Kulseng was offered the apology and release arrangement because his business requires a state liquor license and he was a candidate for public office.

Melendez would not comment on the case because he said he was not in a position to make a statement as the case was now before a court of law for determination. Kulseng will be back in court this Friday evening.

Taylor also criticized Village Trustee and Police Commissioner John Logan. His statement reads:

"Mr. Melendez has been counseled to consult with an attorney of his own choosing to institute the necessary civil action against Mr. John Logan, Village of New Paltz Police Commissioner, for his unwarranted and untrue statements regarding Mr. Melendez. Mr. Melendez is an honorably discharged veteran of the U.S. Army and is being persecuted in a political vendetta, and it is my opinion that he has been chosen by Mr. Logan as being the most vulnerable because of his ethnic background."

Melendez ethnic background is Puerto Rican.

Logan has had attributed to him the statement that Melendez was allowed to resign from the village police force after he was charged with deserting his duty station without authorization.

When Logan was contacted by The Freeman, he blasted back. He said the remarks attributed to him were correct, that Melendez had deserted his duty station without authorization, leaving the village without police protection, and the charge was made by Logan himself.

He said he would "stand on" the remarks attributed to him.

and was not concerned about a suit. He said the village charge against Melendez was dropped at the request of other members of the village board, as Melendez was resigning the force.

Logan also said he had been told by New Paltz Town Supervisor Anthony J. Moriello that the constables were under written orders not to perform police actions in the village, and the Taylor was "unwilling to enforce his own rule." The Homestead is within the New Paltz village limits.

The trustee said the whole incident involving Kulseng was a "political tactic of the local Republican machine," and the Republicans were using Melendez as a "tool" for political activities.

Concerning the authorization to leave his post, Melendez has stated he received authorization from Mayor Henry W. DuBois, who was on duty as a dispatcher that morning. Logan said this was not going through the proper channels, and never happened anyway. DuBois, when contacted by The Freeman, said he had not authorized Melendez to leave his post, and any statement that he had was "false."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 6, 1971

WASHINGTON — The FBI and State Department have been squabbling behind the scenes over how to deal with Soviet espionage in this country.

The British have tipped us off that the massive espionage they have uncovered is typical of what's going on in the U.S. as well.

Their informant is a Soviet KGB agent, who rode up to the British Foreign Office in a Soviet Embassy limousine and asked for asylum. He walked in with a stachel full of secret documents, outlining the entire Soviet espionage operation in Britain.

The documents included no details about Soviet espionage in the U.S., but the defector asserted the pattern was the same.

This wasn't news to the FBI, which has been keeping close tabs on the 325 Soviet diplomats, trade officials and journalists in the U.S.

Many have been linked to direct acts of espionage. Others have encouraged racial, industrial and campus unrest through undercover contact with American activists. Soviet agents, for example, have helped to stir up the nationwide campaign in behalf of Angela Davis, the Red Joan of Arc, now in federal custody.

The British, once confronted with the documented evidence of Soviet spying, expelled 90 Russians from the country and revoked the visas of 15 others. The U.S. during the 1960s expelled 11 Soviet Embassy officials, another 11 Soviet UN employees.

FBI Surveillance

The FBI has accumulated enough evidence to justify the expulsion of several more Soviets. But the State Department has opposed their ouster, particularly in recent years, for the sake of Soviet-American relations.

In order to promote the spirit of détente, the State Department has preferred to overlook what it considers to be purely routine espionage.

For instance, the FBI made a case against Oleg D. Kalugin, a handsome Soviet newsman-diplomat-agent, who tried to recruit a Greek immigrant for undercover work in the U.S. Under the assumed name of "Victor Kravnikov," Kalugin held secret trysts with the immigrant, John Makris, in hotel lobbies, restaurants, a Greenwich Village bookstore and at various spots in the Bronx.

They discussed a number of plans. First, Makris was to infiltrate the anti-Castro movement in New York. Later he was to move to Washington and set up a business front, then travel around the country as a bagman, distributing money to Soviet agents. At one point, Kalugin instructed Makris to cultivate a secretary in the FBI's Manhattan office.

But all the while, Makris was reporting to the FBI. The evidence justified Kalugin's expulsion, but the State Department didn't want to rock the diplomatic boat.

The FBI made a similar case against Galina "Galya" Utekhina, formerly the Soviet cultural attaché in Washington. FBI agents soon discovered she was promoting culture at softly lit restaurants where she dated prominent figures from Capitol Hill, government agencies, Western embassies and the United Nations.

Again, the State Department refused to take action. The battle between diplomacy and security, meanwhile, is still going on.

Washington Whirl

Nixon's Movies — President Nixon takes a puritanical view of the nation's morals in public and in private, practices what he preaches. His staff has orders to review all movies before they are shown in his miniature White House theater or at his San Clemente or Camp David retreats. Those rated "R" or "X" are rejected.

Fighting Dove — Only a couple of companions noticed how Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., reacted during the recent rock-throwing attack upon the Saigon church where he was meeting with Vietnamese dissidents. As rocks ripped through the church windows and fire bombs exploded outside, McGovern began collecting rocks. "What are you doing?" demanded aide Frank Mankiewicz. The peace-preaching Senator explained quietly that he was gathering "ammunition" to fight back.

Slow Mail — The Navy's intraoffice mail system makes even the bogged-down U.S. Postal Service look efficient. Naval inspectors, after a secret study, reported: "A recent series of tests was conducted to record times required to process mail from receipt to arrival at action desks." They found it sometimes took six days to deliver intraoffice mail one block, sometimes three days to route it from one floor to another in the same building. "Several pieces (of mail) were lost" during the tests. Concludes the inspectors' classified report: The Navy "falls short of the standard... (of) two working hours from receipt in the mailroom to delivery to the action desk."

Medical Squeeze — The American Medical Association maintains such tight control over medical training in this country that half of the qualified applicants are turned away. The reason for this is to restrict the number of doctors so they can continue to charge high fees. Thousands of high school graduates, who want to become doctors, are forced to take up other professions. The more persistent go to foreign schools for their medical training. More than 1,000 Americans, for example, attend a medical school across the border in Guadalajara, Mexico.

Vietnam Election

WASHINGTON — Although the presidential election in South Vietnam has come in for lots of criticism, inside and outside of the country, there is a positive side to it. A huge number went to the polls — approximately 6,311,000, or 87.7 per cent of registered South Vietnamese voters.

While it is true that there was no opposition candidate, each voter had an opportunity to indicate a negative view on his ballot or else not to vote at all.

President Thieu, in running for re-election, said he would resign if he did not get more than 50 per cent of the votes cast, but actually he got something nearer to 95 per cent. While it is possible for elections to be "rigged," especially when they are close, it is doubtful whether in a contest with such a large turnout, any major proportion of votes could have been cast unwillingly for the man whose name was on the ticket. The ballot could have been mutilated or discarded to count as an opposition vote.

So far as the United States is concerned, it has been supporting the right of self-determination for the South Vietnamese people. The control of national elections is not the responsibility of any foreign government.

When more than 6 million people go to the polls to elect a president, there is certainly a "right of self-determination" being exercised. The result may not be favored by many people who wished to have other candidates in the race. The fact, however, that potential contestants chose not to take the risk of entering the fray for fear of defeat indicates that President Thieu has considered popular enough to ensure his election.

President Nixon wants to withdraw our troops from South Vietnam as soon as practicable. The program known as "Vietnamization" calls for the establishment of an adequate military force of its own to protect the people of South Vietnam from any further aggression by North Vietnam or any other adversary. The administration is just as anxious to pull out our forces as are members of Congress who have been opposing the Vietnam War.

But there rests on President Nixon obligation also to secure the release of Americans, who are held prisoner of war, and he has made it a condition of withdrawal that no such step will be taken until the list of missing servicemen is submitted and an agreement has been reached as to the date on which they will be turned over to American authorities.

Unfortunately, internal dissension has given the South Vietnamese a bad image abroad. Immediately after the election, for instance, a group of backers of Vice President Ky issued a statement calling the election "a farce," and demanding that the United States halt support of Thieu's government because, it was claimed, the election "was conducted with the support of Ambassador Bunker and in an atmosphere of discontent to the people and government repression."

But it is significant that an outspoken criticism of this kind can be issued in South Vietnam against the head of the government without any penalties being inflicted upon the dissenters, as is the case in countries where totalitarianism rules.

There is no doubt that in all elections some local organizations can influence voting, and this happens in many countries. But what emerges in surveying the South Vietnamese situation is that the people did have freedom of expression, and they were able to refrain from going to the polls if they chose. A larger number than ever before voted and gave an overwhelming victory to President Thieu.

Does this give the United States an opportunity now to withdraw its troops immediately, as some members of Congress are urging? Certainly President Nixon would be glad to bring our forces home at an early date, if possible, but there are many things that will have to be settled before a date can be fixed. Much depends, too, upon the activities of the enemy. If a huge offensive should be undertaken, it is not likely that the South Vietnamese Army would be left without American support, particularly planes and helicopters.

The Department of State will unquestionably be endeavoring to secure some assurances from Peking and from Moscow that, if the United States does withdraw its troops from Vietnam, there will be an end to military operations by North Vietnam.

Freeman Editorials

Doria's Damage

Last August, after a brief but reeling visit from a lady named Doria, Ulster County and especially its southern portion began picking up the pieces, discovering that floods, landslides, fallen trees and downed wires had all contributed to an ungodly mess.

The Ulster County Office of Civil Defense and Natural Disaster assayed the collective damage and petitioned Governor Rockefeller for an allotment of $280,000 in federal aid to help rectify storm damage.

Now that the governor has relayed the disaster request to Washington, an executive order authorizing the funds is expected to be issued following an investigation.

The monies, when received, are expected to be expended mainly in the village of Highland and the town of Town of Lloyd and their environs, where Doria did her local damage most.

And only in this way, with alert local officials cognizant of the rights of localities, will Ulster County continue its ways of progress.

Kennedy's Gaffe

In his private and public life, Sen. Edward Kennedy has given ample evidence of his lack of stability. His inability to exercise proper judgment was shown once again recently with his intemperate remark that he would have "crawled into the room" (at the Paris conference) if it meant getting American prisoners of war released.

It didn't take long for Sen. Barry Goldwater to pick up the Massachusetts Senator on that one. Calling the remark, "disgusting, an insult and a disgrace," the Arizonian added that no President of the United States had ever gone crawling to the enemy for any reason and that he thought our POWs would never approve of it. Mr. Goldwater, while always forthright, and vigorously so, doesn't usually direct such angry statements directly to a colleague. On this occasion he felt justified.

Mr. Goldwater also suggested that if Kennedy wishes to level criticism for the plight of the POWs he should direct it at the two previous administrations that escalated the war.

While Mr. Kennedy never passes up a chance to identify with a cause, in this case he was doing nothing more than exploiting the grief of relatives of the POWs. He told a meeting of the Families of Prisoners of War and Missing in Action that their sons and husbands were "rotting" in Vietnam because the Nixon administration had not responded to peace proposals offered last July. It is anyone's privilege to attack the President's policies on any matter, but demagoguery such as the Bay State Senator's is hardly warranted.

Add one more to the string of the man who undoubtedly aspires one day to become President. At Harvard, he got someone to take an exam for him and got kicked out. Then there was Chappaquiddick, which the people can never forget. Last spring, he went out of his way to offer words of encouragement to a group of young radicals who were lawlessly attempting to tie the nation's capital into a chaotic knot.

SEA CUCUMBER TOXIN—A toxin from the sea cucumber, a small, primitive sea animal, possibly may be used to help people suffering from cerebral palsy and other spastic conditions caused by stroke damage. The poison relieves muscular over-activity without damaging the motor system and producing paralysis, as other toxic substances do, according to Dr. William Bunch of the University of Virginia School of Medicine.

BERRY'S WORLD

"While capitalist nations worry about pollution, Comrades, you will develop a detergent with MORE phosphates, and we will take the lead in whiter washes!"

Racism Is a Tragic Riddle

Racism is a riddle. It may never be settled to the satisfaction of both sides, because, underlying all the platitudes and sops to the Negroes, the blacks are reduced to two distasteful options: (1). Join the white race; (2). Segregate and separate completely.

My wife and I have just finished a leisurely tour of the East from Miami to New York and back again. Fifteen years ago, I made the same tour (with stops in Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana) for King Features Syndicate and interviewed many of the same people. My interest centered on the black because he was the abused and unhappy one.

The changes in 15 years are on the surface. Schools are now integrated, but the blacks lunch by themselves and speak their own "down home" language. White boys fraternize with blacks in sports, but few of them invite their dark brothers to social affairs. Fewer blacks invite white friends to their ghetto homes.

Overnight, the dark man has become sacrosanct. At Attica prison, the superintendent allowed the rampaging convicts to dictate who would mediate — a Black Panther. This is akin to inviting a convicted child molester as a baby sitter.

For 300 years, the Negro has asked for equal justice, equal privileges, equal social standing. White men mongrelized his race by violating his women. Thus he was not black, not white. As his numbers grew, he tried harder to become white by pressing the kinks from his hair, dressing like the white man, thinking white, eating white.

It wasn't enough. He was unacceptable, repulsed, even in church where God is colorless and Jesus died for all. Since May 1954, when the Supreme Court declared that "separate but equal" facilities amounted to discrimination, the United States of America has been in convulsion. One hundred and eighty million whites polarized themselves against 22,000,000 blacks.

The battle lines were drawn. Rosa Parks' feet hurt and she sat in the front of a Montgomery bus. Her feet made the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. a hero. He did not realize that the black ministers of Montgomery propelled him to the front of the fight because they had to continue to live in Montgomery — his real home was in his father's Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta.

Therefore, he could stick his neck out and fight. It took him 39 years to live out his existence; it required three years for me to live it as a researcher. I saw him in better perspective than he did.

And yet, racial feelings are so ingrained that, on TV, Miss Barbara Walters of the Today show, who is not known as a student of racial conflict, became outraged when I said that King had a weak side — he could not bear to be hit in a melee or to languish in jail. "I could not disagree with you more!" Miss Walters shouted.

Mrs. B. and I tooled the car through the South, stopping to speak to whites and blacks. Many were timid. Some were not. The token Negro in the courts, or as a movie star, or in the Legislatures, does not help the black who lives in an un-painted tenement farmer shack out on a dark farm, or in a cold-water flat in Harlem.

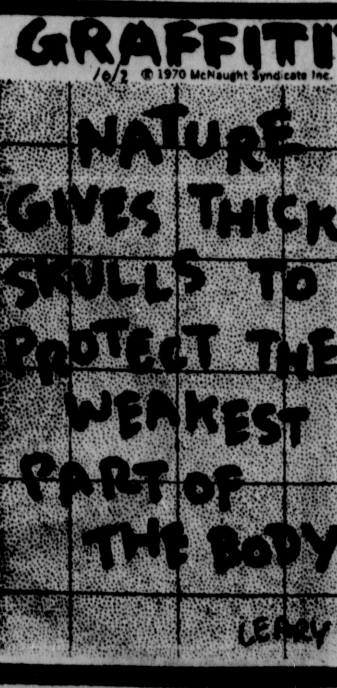

Perhaps the deepest and most disturbing truth is that, as the white man says "Okay. Join up with us," the Negro has stopped slicking his hair. He cultivates an African coiffure, wears a dashiki, and retreats to his black enclave. For 300 years he tried to be white; now he wants to be blacker than black and he asserts that "Black is beautiful."

He has split himself into so many disparate factions that his body politic is weak. On the night that Martin Luther King was shot, the Black Panthers held a party of celebration in Oakland, California. On police departments, blacks have formed organizations opposed to white officers.

In the social strata of Negro life, the black bank president, the black insurance company owner, the black investment counselor will not live in the black community and refuses to assist the poor. The student militants divorce themselves from peaceful parents and stage fire demonstrations that achieve publicity which, in turn, further polarizes the races through fear.

Racism, my friend, is a tragic riddle...

Preliminary '72 Budget Is Adopted in Gardiner

By WADE BURKHART

GARDINER
A preliminary budget with a total amount to be raised by taxation of $91,905 was adopted by the Gardiner Town Board at Tuesday night's meeting. This is about $13,000 over the 1971 figure of $79,075 but the figure adopted was $5,500 lower than the one they started with at the beginning of the meeting. Town Supervisor George Majestic pledged the board would make further cuts in the budget so the town would "live within its means."

budget, as good as any budget presented by any town board in the history of Gardiner." Increases over last year include a $2,000 increase in the operating expenses of the dump, a $2,500 increase in planning expenses, and an approximately $3,000 increase in general government support, which is in large part personal services. The preliminary budget is a sort of worksheet, and will be presented for public hearing Nov. 4. Copies will be available in the office of the town clerk 10 days prior to the hearing. Majestic said it was the policy of the board to only increase the budget by the percentage of increase in assessed valuation in the township. He estimated this year's increase in assessed valuation at about 8 per cent. By following this policy, a town board should be able to keep the taxpayer's tax bill the same for town taxes from year to year, the supervisor said. It was voted to place the question of zoning on this year's ballot. The question on the ballot will simply ask if Gardiner residents want zoning. The move was made at Majestic's motion, who said the question of zoning should be left up to the people. Town Justice Warren McDowell seconded the motion after it was amended to allow the people to vote on a concrete proposed plan when one is available too. McDowell still expressed misgivings over putting the question of zoning without a concrete proposal on the November ballot, feeling the people would tend to vote no just to be on the safe side. McDowell was questioned about the salary of town justices, and whether or not he was earning his by Democratic town justice candidate Alex Rooney, who is opposing him. McDowell said Justice Samuel Stokes did the bulk of the justice work lately because the police brought more cases to him. He also said a large part of the justice's salary was paid him for sitting on the town board. Majestic was questioned about his salary by Conservative candidate for town supervisor Jerry Williams. Majestic said he received $6,000 a year and earned it.

A group of residents of the San Hill area came before the board to protest the proposed placing of trailers in the area. The board said placing of trailers in the area was against the subdivision regulations, and area residents opposed to it should file a complaint in the local justice court.

Town Councilman John Bonagura reported there was a great deal of shooting at the dump, and produced two empty .410 shotgun shells he said he found at the dump to prove it. He said the shooting took place at night, and the windows of the shelter for the dump caretaker were constantly being shot out, and holes put in the walls. McDowell said he would get together with the constables to arrange increased patrolling of the area.

In speaking of the tax impact Hansen said, "Totaling all voter authorized and unauthorized New York State debt, the taxpayer finds the legislature has mortgaged the state for a total of $7.4 billion, a figure almost equal to the 1971 budget. This debt figure, through the normal operation of state government without new bond issue authorizations, will exceed $12 billion in debt for New York State by 1974," he continued.

The Association stated, "The taxpayer should not be deceived by the legislator who boasts of holding the taxpayer line by increasing the 1971 budget only $1 billion over 1970 to $7.7 billion." And voters were urged to vote no on election day to the bond issue as representative of a further increase in state debt and taxation.

The Highland School Board made what it considers to be its last payment to the Rabena Construction Co. at Monday night's board meeting, according to School Board President John Elia.

Elia said the board paid the construction firm $15,000, the last of the retainage for the construction job.

Rabena is the firm which put in the 84-inch pipe at the new school site that experienced such severe deflection. The repairs made by Rabena consisted of inserting 70 feet of 66-inch pipe into the larger pipe as a sleeve.

Added to the head mechanic and treasurer the board is now seeking, a new bus dispatcher will be required after this Friday. Patrick Donnelly, bus dispatcher, submitted his resignation effective that date. He joins head mechanic Cosmo Landi, and treasurer Ernestine Behrens who have either resigned or are in the process of doing so.

The Citizens Advisory Committee on the renovation of the middle school reported to the board, and presented a report of a Mr. Mero of Harrison and Mero of Troy which contained a plan to renovate the middle school complex. Elia reported the cost of the project appeared to be over $2 million, a steep figure, but said "we need to do it."

The board adopted the proposal and will set up a meeting with the State Education Department's Buildings and Grounds Department to secure tentative agreement for the project, Elia said.

Vandalism Stand Taken In Hyde Park

HYDE PARK
Vandalism in the Hyde Park Central School District has prompted the Board of Education to emphasize that it intends to cooperate fully with law enforcement agencies in the investigation, apprehension and prosecution of vandals.

The Board took the stand following a break-in at Haviland Junior High School recently when windows were broken to gain entry.

Several pieces of equipment were removed from the building. Some were later recovered in a wooded area adjacent to the school grounds. The vandals also entered the Haviland cafeteria and contaminated food with human waste.

Investigations are being conducted by the state police with the cooperation of school authorities.

The Board also reviewed the establishment of a student lounge at Roosevelt High School, which was the subject of a report to the Board by Alfred Isaacson, vice-principal, and Patricia Morgan, Student Council President.

The report was the result of a study committee composed of students, teachers and administrators including Louise Mandy, district school lunch manager.

Isaacson reported that one of the cafeterias at the school has been designated for use as a lounge and will remain open throughout the school day with the exception of the regularly scheduled lunch periods when the lounge must revert to use as a cafeteria.

Kurt Hoffman, rear, a member of the Mid-Hudson Industrial Arts and Vocational Teachers Association, is shown with Dick King in a World War I vintage airplane at the Rhinebeck Aerodrome, last week. Hoffman and 19 other members of the association held their first meeting of the year at the aerodrome and were given a tour by King. Hoffman went up on a brief flight with King. The association will hold its next meeting in New Paltz. (J. H. Thompson Photo).

Juvenile Detention Center Sought by Candidate Klein

PORT EWEN — Louis M. Klein, Democratic Conservative candidate for County Legislator from District 7, towns of Esopus and Rosendale, today called for immediate action by the Ulster County Legislature toward procuring a Juvenile Detention Center for the Mid-Hudson Region.

"In recent years," he said, we have continually been alarmed by published reports concerning the vast increase in crime, particularly the high percentage attributed to juveniles. The repeated discussion in political campaigns and faithful attention of the press reflect the local concern with this subject.

"As an attorney, who has frequently served our local courts as counsel, I have become painfully aware that perhaps the most neglected area of the criminal law field, though undoubtedly the most important, is that relating to crimes committed by juveniles under the age of (16) years.

Our entire system of criminal justice is rightfully aimed at rehabilitating the criminal and protecting society from his unlawful acts. Of all those persons who have committed crimes, those who can most successfully be rehabilitated are our youthful violators; yet it is this class of violator for whom rehabilitation is least provided.

"Persons under 16 who violate the law cannot be sentenced to prison. They are subject to referral to either a training school or a period of probation. Sending them away at a tender age, often to distances prohibiting parental visitation, and mixing them with seasoned criminal activists. This can rarely be considered advantageous. Probation is frequently the better answer, and we in Ulster County are fortunate to have a fine office of probation. This department, however, is underpaid and understaffed. In addition, it has not been supplied with the tools necessary to best perform its function. This situation must be dealt with by the County Legislature.

"One additional problem is the disposition of the juvenile while he is awaiting trial. If he poses a threat to society he should be withdrawn from it. Yet, since we have no detention facility for juveniles in our area, judges either have to choose between the risk of allowing them to remain in the community or remove them to the nearest available juvenile detention center in Suffolk County. This involves daily costs for care at the center in addition to travel expenses and lost time and manpower for probation officers who must deliver them to the center and return them for trial.

"The answer to this problem seems obvious. We vitally need a Juvenile Detention Facility with related services in our area. While Ulster County may have insufficient need and funds to establish a center solely for itself, it certainly could take the initiative to sponsor a joint effort with neighboring counties, or pressure the state to provide such a facility. This problem has, reportedly, been made known to the County Legislature by persons critically affected by it, and presumably taken under study by the Legislature. The time for study has passed; the time for action is now."

Growth Rate On Long Island Much Lower

UPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Because most of its available land within easy commuting distance of Manhattan is occupied, Long Island's growth rate has slowed perceptibly, a planning official reports.

Boris Pushkarev, vice president of the New York Regional Planning Association, told the Conference on Energy, Environment and Planning at Brookhaven National Laboratories here Tuesday that Long Island's growth rate had fallen behind the rest of the metropolitan area for the first time in a century.

He said that more growth of population had taken place in the 1960s in New Jersey because land there was still available within 30 miles of the regional center, Manhattan.

Pushkarev said that in the past decade, Long Island had only 35 per cent of the area's population growth, compared to 47 per cent in 1950-1960. He estimated that its share would fall to 29 per cent between 1970 and 1985.

While half the island is still vacant, the planner reported, most of the developable land is 50 miles or more east of Manhattan in Suffolk County.

"The island is a maturing settlement area," Pushkarev said, "past the crest of its most intensive growth in sheer numbers of people."

Suffolk County officials and several Long Island communities have indicated growing concern recently over population growth and are seeking methods to limit further growth while preserving their existing way of life.

Critics claim the test could set off earthquakes, cause tidal waves in the Pacific and endanger marine and wildlife. But the government, which acknowledges that it would be too powerful for the Nevada test site, claims it would not harm the environment.

Court Intervention in Blast Could Open Secret Papers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal George L. Hart erred when he ruled in the government's favor in a suit brought by seven Alaska's Amchitka Island conservation groups. They lead to the release of secret government papers alleging the underground blast would seriously damage the environment, according to Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska.

The U.S. Court of Appeals Tuesday ordered the U.S. district court to reconsider its refusal to halt the test tentatively planned for "early" this month. No specific date has been named.

The blast would be the most powerful ever set off underground.

"The decision opens the way for release and publication of the secret studies conducted by the government, which are believed to recommend that the Cannikin test be canceled because of its harm to the environment," Gravel said in a statement after the appellate decision.

The unanimous, unsigned opinion by the three-judge court found that District Court Judge

Man Accused Of Harassment

TOWN OF KINGSTON
James Calvin Sneed, 32, of Route 1, Box 434, Spillway Road, West Hurley, was arrested early today by Deputy Sheriff Walter Bashnagel and Thomas Cook on a charge of harassment following a complaint from E. Ruth Sneed.

Sergeant Raymond Davis said the woman accused the defendant of threatening to harm her, throwing a brick at her as she was in a car and hitting her on the head with a photograph record.

Sneed was taken before town Justice Richard Alberstadt. Bail was fixed at $150 and hearing was adjourned until 8 p.m. today when the defendant is scheduled to appear before Hurley Town Justice C. H. DuMont.

Davis also reported the same deputies arrested Robert Julius Small, 22, of 322 Albany Avenue, on a charge of harassment following a complaint from Hazel Ausanio of 173 Hoyt Street, Port Ewen. The case will be heard before Town Justice DuMont, police said. Details of the incident were not available.

Unsolved Mystery
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A candidate for sheriff of San Francisco had an unsolved mystery today—a baby abandoned at his campaign headquarters.

Volunteers at the campaign office of Richard D. Hongisto said a slim, red-haired woman worked one day and left a child while she went out for cigarettes.

When she didn't return the baby was taken to the Youth Guidance Center Monday where it was reported in good health.

Ben-Gurion Marks 85th Birthday—Mellowed, at Peace With Foes

TEL AVIV (AP) — David Ben-Gurion celebrates his 85th birthday today, a mellowed man at peace with the politicians he once vilified, and the party he ripped asunder.

Premier Golda Meir and her government have laid on the most lavish birthday celebration ever accorded an Israeli.

Ben-Gurion is scheduled to travel throughout the Jewish state and attend 25 events in his honor during the next three months.

The exhausting itinerary is a sign that the founder and elder statesman of Israel is in good health.

One Israeli who spoke to him recently said he looks and talks lucidly.

His birthday is celebrated today under the Hebrew calendar, although he was born Oct. 16, 1886.

The event is observed in an atmosphere of rapprochement between "the old man" and his once alienated colleagues in government.

Three years ago, bushy-haired Ben-Gurion was calling the Israeli government "a leadership of knaves and fools."

He scornfully referred to

Mrs. Meir as "that woman." But last week, he was guest of honor at a meeting of the ruling Labor party. Mrs. Meir, seated next to him, was in tears.

Ben-Gurion has been out of the government since 1963, and out of politics for two years. But few have forgotten him.

In 1965, he broke away from the Labor party he had built, to form a faction called Rafi with Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and other young leaders of the defense establishment.

The break grew out of a murky security bungle that occurred seven years before but was kept secret to Ben-Gurion.

His ultimatum was: believe my version or I quit.

The Cabinet challenged him. Mrs. Meir and the labor leaders expelled Ben-Gurion from the party. His minority faction in the Knesset, Israel's parliament, kept up criticism of then Premier Levi Eshkol, but made little headway.

When in 1968, Rafi decided to rejoin the Labor alignment and form the United Labor party, Ben-Gurion was the only Rafi man who refused to go along. He spent a lonely year in the Knesset, then pulled out of politics for good. But his willingness to make political peace came about only this year.

Leading Israeli Labor politicians—including Mrs. Meir and Deputy Premier Yigal Allon—traveled to Sede Boqer, the Negev desert settlement where Ben-Gurion makes his home to seek reconciliation.

One newspaper columnist commented that Ben-Gurion's greatness lay in "his willingness to forgive his foes for everything he did to them."

The old man said recently he was no longer "concerned with political vendettas and personal mistakes of others."

The Telephone Strike Has Its Ups and Downs

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — In what would appear to be a cause and effect relationship, the backlog of telephone installation orders has risen to 200,000 in the three-month strike by telephone workers but the number of complaints has decreased, the Public Service Commission says.

PSC Chairman Joseph C. Swidler said Tuesday in a letter to Governor Rockefeller that the number of complaints about service may have decreased because the number of interruptions caused by installation work has dropped during the strike.

Just after the strike started in mid-July, Swidler said, the PSC averaged 71 complaints per day. That was about half the level before the strike.

The complaints since then have ranged between 80 and the 130 reported after heavy rains in late August.

About one third of the complaints were over installation delays, Swidler said. "The backlog of phone orders has mounted to well over 200,000, or about five weeks' work for the entire regular craft force," he said.

Considering many customers may have decided simply not to place orders during the walk-out, Swidler said "it will take many weeks" afterwards to catch up.

An estimated 40,000 phone installers in the state have been off the job since state locals in the Communications Workers of America rejected the national contract settlement with Bell Telephone.

Ridge Library Story Hour to Resume Oct. 12

STONE RIDGE
The story hour for three and four year olds at the Stone Ridge Library will begin the next session Tuesday, Oct. 12, at 10 a.m.

Story hours will continue throughout the remainder of the school year on Tuesday mornings, following the schedule of the Rondout Valley Central Schools as to snow days, holidays and vacations.

The children gather to listen to stories and records and then have the opportunity to select and check out books for reading at home.

Man Draws Out $238,000 at Yonkers Bank

YONKERS, N.Y. (UPI) — A well-dressed, mustachioed man armed with a double barreled sawed - off shotgun robbed a Yonkers bank of $238,000 in cash Tuesday, police said.

State troopers said the man, dressed in a blue business suit, walked into the County Trust Co., just before the bank closed at 2:55 p.m. The man told the bank's manager that he was investigating a legal judgment and the manager invited him into a private office to talk.

The robber, believed to be about 30 years old, then drew the shotgun from under his coat and told the manager, "this is a holdup," police said.

Authorities said the bank had closed when the two men left the office. They said the man brandished the shotgun at the bank's employees and ordered them into the vault.

The robber removed cash from the teller cages and then returned to the vault, took the cash there and fled, police said.

Unarmed Guards Set For Buffalo Schools

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Unarmed security guards will be hired to patrol city schools following the early closing of two schools during the second week of student disruptions.

Schools Superintendent Dr. Joseph Manch, meanwhile, told principals not to permit large group meetings in the schools because such assemblies "are not productive or desirable at this time." Board of Education members Tuesday informally agreed to place off-duty police at trouble-plagued schools until a permanent security force could be established.

The board estimated it would cost $136,000 to hire a director and officers to operate the program over a ten month period, and said it would look to state and federal agencies for financing.

The decision followed the early closing of Kensington and LaFayette High Schools due to student disorders which resulted in at least three injuries.

LaFayette High dismissed classes after a series of eruptions in the school cafeteria, and Kensington closed after a meeting between students, parents and community representatives.

Kensington, the third city school to close since last Wednesday, was the scene of sporadic fighting between blacks and whites last Friday. Groups of blacks and whites confronted each other Monday.

Police said an 18-year-old La Fayette High girl was taken to Millard Fillmore hospital with a leg injury, and that groups of blacks and whites milled around outside the school "apparently looking for a fight."

Attendance rose to 900 Tuesday at Grover Cleveland High School where 13 students were injured a week ago during fights between blacks and whites. The school has an enrollment of 1,400.

School officials closed Emerson Vocational High Monday morning after a bomb scare and three false fire alarms.

No GM Refuse In the River Since July

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Not a single drop" of refuse has been dumped into the Hudson River from the General Motors Corp. plant at North Tarrytown since July — seven months after an anti - pollution suit was filed against the auto maker — an assistant U.S. attorney said Tuesday.

Michael D. Hess, said GM completed $3.8 million in water effluent treatment facilities at the plant three months ahead of schedule.

Since completion of the facilities, Hess said, "not a single drop" of refuse has been discharged into the river. Previously, tons of paint residue was dumped into the river daily, he said.

Last December, the government filed suit against GM to halt the pollution of the Hudson. The auto maker signed a consent agreement in January pledging to stop the pollution.

Iranian Security Forces Worried About Guerrillas

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A tough, fanatical group of Maoist guerrillas, who already have attempted kidnapping a political weapon, are worrying Iranian security forces preparing for the arrival of more than 60 heads of state.

Foreign visitors are due next week to attend lavish celebrations marking 2,500 years of uninterrupted monarchy in Iran.

The guerrillas, tightly organized but probably small in number, last week fought a two-day gun battle with security forces in the southern suburbs of Tehran.

Four guerrillas were officially reported killed and two captured. One security man died in the fight.

Great precautions are being taken to ensure the safety of the Shah of Iran's foreign guests.

Rings of army pillboxes have been thrown around the crumbling columns of the ancient Persian city of Persepolis, where Cyrus the Great, founder of the monarchy, had his capital and where the celebrations will be highlighted.

Hundreds of troops have been moved into the area, which will be off limits to all but holders of special permits. Everyone within 10 miles has been checked for security clearance.

Some 600 persons reportedly have been arrested, mostly in Tehran, as a precautionary measure. They probably will be released after the celebrations.

A bill already is on the books to free 5,000 prisoners, including political detainees, to mark the anniversary.

Diplomatic observers doubt the guerrillas will attempt to seize or kill a visiting dignitary because such a move would alienate international opinion.

Henderson Trial Entangled in Technicalities

FT. MEADE, Md. (UPI) — With the prosecution pushing toward the end of its presentation, the court martial of Col. Oran K. Henderson on charges of covering up the My Lai massacre has become entangled in legal technicalities.

There is the question of whether Henderson and others underwent lie detector tests in pretrial investigations—a contention which the defense wants to present to the jury.

There is the question of whether the prosecution can hand the jury copies of Army regulations dealing with the treatment of noncombatants in war time. The defense strongly objects to this on grounds the government is trying to widen its charges against Henderson.

The latter issue was getting a further airing today.

There also is the question: How much can be presented of the former brigade commander's sworn testimony during questioning leading up to his trial on charges of failing to investigate the slaying of civilians at My Lai on March 16, 1968?

What with jumping from one issue to another, the actual trial of Henderson by a jury of 2 generals and 5 colonels has been interrupted repeatedly. Further sessions before the panel could be delayed until next week.

The government has only a handful of key witnesses still to present as the court martial nears the end of its seventh week. But Chief Prosecutor Maj. Carroll J. Tichenor says he cannot complete his case against Henderson until military Judge Col. Peter S. Wondolowski has ruled on admission of hundreds of pages of documents relating to the My Lai massacre.

Ulster GOP Opens Headquarters

The Town of Ulster Republican Club officially opened its campaign headquarters Monday night on Ulster Avenue Mall with chairman Edgar P. Elliott presiding over the festivities. According to Elliott, the town's Highway Superintendent, "Headquarters will remain open Monday through Friday, from 7 to 9 p.m. until Nov. 3, and will provide election information and literature on candidates, polling places and, if needed, transportation to and from the polls on election day." "Anyone wishing such services may visit or contact us by telephone at 339-4777," Elliott said. Sherwood Davis, seeking reelection to the position of Town Justice, served as Master of Ceremonies in introducing District 2 County Legislator Douglas V. Dye, Richard D. Nace, Lester C. Elmendorf, Lewis Hall and S. Robert Kelder, Sr. Dye, while citing New Paltz, Kingston, Wawar, and Woodstock as areas of Legislative opposition, felt that Dist. 2 had "no problem" due to dedicated representation and good results in the field of reduced taxes. Nace added that "though legislative efforts, residents in the Lake Katrine, Halcyon Park area can look for a Thursday delivery of the steel for the Leggs Mills Road bridge."

Town chairman, Edwin Callahan presented candidates for Town offices as follows: Supervisor Carmine Sabino, Councilman Anthony Cicoria, Superintendent of Highways Edgar P. Elliott, Tax Collector Harold Atkins, Justice Davis, and Robert M. Morehouse, Town Clerk. All agreed that although the Town Council is the only position on the ballot being sought by the opposition we cannot become complacent. "Anthony Cicoria has well served the town during his four years in office," Davis said. "A strong advocate of the landfill project, he has been instrumental in bringing about much needed railroad crossing lights and a town employees hospital-medical plan," he concluded. In asking for continued support, Cicoria stressed that every registered Republican must make the effort to vote on election day for a "total Republican victory."

Also present and lending enthusiastic support was Albert Spada, County Clerk and County Republican Chairman, Richard M. Buono, candidate County Coroner, and Ulster town assessor Joseph Lohmaier.

Club president Orvil Norman wishes publicly to thank all the members and friends of the Town of Ulster Republican Club who worked so hard to prepare the campaign headquarters for the opening. "Let us be as positive of our approval of the candidates. No other way is more visible than the vote you cast on election day," Norman stated.

ULSTER GOP — Republicans in the Town of Ulster opened their campaign headquarters recently on Ulster Mall. Shown at the ribbon cutting ceremony are (L.) Ralph McCumber, chairman of the Town of Ulster Youth Group; Anthony Cicoria, incumbent councilman who is seeking another term; Supervisor Carmine Sabino who is also up for reelection; Margaret Marino, treasurer of the Town of Ulster Republican Club and Mrs. Evelyn Scheffel, president of the Town of Ulster Senior Citizen's Club. A reception for Dr. Pollard and other honored guests will be held at 5:30 p.m. with the annual banquet following at 6:30 p.m. Registration will get underway at 9 a.m.

Red Hook PTA Member Drive

RED HOOK — The Red Hook PTA has announced it will kick off an intensive membership drive at the dedication of the Mill Road Elementary School addition Thursday evening.

New Budget Of Schoentag's Holding Line

SAUGERTIES — Dutchess County Executive David C. Schoentag told members of the Oak Grove Grange this weekend that he intended to submit a 1972 budget which contains "no new positions and no salary raises for any county personnel except those rank and file employees with whom we have a binding contract under the Taylor Law."

He emphasized that this step is "in line with President Nixon's effort to control inflation," and added that it is also "an essential step if we are to continue holding the line on the real property tax rate."

He said that the real property tax rate has risen 2.6 per cent over the past five years while inflation has raised costs by 5 per cent a year.

Schoentag said that 60 per cent of all real property taxes collected in the county are used by school districts.

And he said in conclusion that "of all the New York State Counties in the 200, to 250 thousand population range, Dutchess County has the lowest property tax rate."

Judge Giudice Chairman Again Of DCC Board

POUGHKEEPSIE — Judge Joseph Giudice has been reelected to a fourth term as chairman of the Dutchess Community College Board of Trustees.

The recent Board meeting also yielded the election of Roger M. Corbetta, Millbrook, as vice-chairman, replacing William J. Walsh, Red Hook, who retired from the Board last June.

Other officers elected were Madolin S. Johnson, secretary; Edna K. Silber, treasurer; and J. George Spitz, assistant treasurer.

And the trustees welcomed Francis U. Ritz, Poughkeepsie, who begins a new nine-year term at the first meeting of the new academic year.

High Falls Meeting — There will be a meeting of the High Falls Cemetery Association plot-holders 7 p.m. Oct. 19 at the High Falls Firehouse.

Y-Indian Guides Explanation Friday

KINGSTONtwice a month in one of the big braves' teepees. Big braves, especially after a hard week in the office, are allowed to sit in chairs while their sons sit cross legged on the floor.

"No boy or father can attend a meeting by himself" says the YMCA Extension Director, "for the project tries to foster togetherness and participation. At tribal meetings lasting one hour, a prayer is offered to the Great Spirit, dues or wampum are collected, legends and stories are swapped, Indian games are played and a craft is made. Year-round activities include hikes, tours to historical places, industrial plant visits, sports events and handicraft programs.

"All of these activities create a strong esprit de corps," explains Van Heusen, "but the big events are the spring and fall camp-outs at the Y Day Camp in Shokan. At these gatherings, local tribes meet with other tribes in the county for trout fishing, hikes, games and a big council and camp fire.

All families interested are invited to attend the meeting on Oct. 15th for a more detailed exploration of Y-Indian Guides by Extension Director Van Heusen.

Parenthood Group to Fete Dr. Guttmacher

POUGHKEEPSIE

Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, president of Planned Parenthood World Population, will be in Poughkeepsie Nov. 6 to attend the Planned Parenthood League's Doctor's Recognition Ball. The ball is being held to honor those physicians who are currently working on the board or at the clinics of Planned Parenthood of Dutchess County.

"To have Dr. Guttmacher attending the ball as our honorary chairman is very exciting news," said Mrs. J. Giles Rittenberry, president of the local Planned Parenthood. "It's exciting to those of us planning the ball as well as to those physicians being honored. Dr. Guttmacher's presence will be the supreme compliment to our doctors."

Mrs. Rittenberry further explained, "Since Planned Parenthood was begun in Dutchess County in 1934, it has always depended on the generosity of the doctors in the community. The list of doctors that have devoted a great deal of time and energy through the years is really endless. Although we are officially honoring only those currently working with us, we are thinking of all the doctors who have given so much throughout the last 37 years. I'm sure Dr. Guttmacher will agree that the doctors he's honoring on Nov. 6 are representative of the many dedicated doctors before them."

Dr. Guttmacher, along with being president of Planned Parenthood-World Population, is a diplomate in Obstetrics and Gynecology, a member of the faculty of the Albert Einstein School of Medicine, and Emeritus Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at New York's Mount Sinai School of Medicine. Until 1966 he was Clinical Professor at Columbia's College of Physicians and Surgeons and lecturer at the Harvard School of Public Health.

A native of Baltimore and a graduate of the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, he taught anatomy at his alma mater and at the University of Rochester. After residency training, he rose to the rank of Associate Professor of obstetrics at Johns Hopkins. Later he became Director of the combined Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at New York's Mount Sinai Hospital, a post held until 1962 when he assumed leadership of Planned Parenthood-World Population.

Talmud Torah Appointments

KINGSTON

Several appointments were made at the recent meeting of the Talmud Torah of Kingston board.

Mrs. Lionel Kogon will serve as corresponding secretary for the coming year replacing Mrs. Harry Harding, whose resignation was accepted with regret.

Assisting Rabbis Howard Gershon and Harry Z. Scheetman on the education committee will be Stanley Plaskeo, Sidney Trenkman, Raphael Klein and Ed Furman.

Staffing, salaries and curriculum were discussed in preparation for the opening of Hebrew School and Religious School.

Parents were reminded that Hebrew School is scheduled to start Oct. 18 and continue Mondays and Thursdays from 3:45 to 5:15 p.m.

Religious School will be held Sundays 10 to 11:30 a.m. starting Oct. 17. Any member of the board may be contacted for further information.

Rotary Head To New Paltz

NEW PALTZ The president of Rotary International, Ernst G. Breitholtz of Kalmar, Sweden, will address a meeting of Rotarians from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut Tuesday evening Oct. 12 in Hasbrouck Hall on State University College, New Paltz.

The inter-city meeting which Breitholtz will address is being sponsored by the Rotary Clubs of Highland-New Paltz, Poughkeepsie, Poughkeepsie-Arlington and Suffern.

Rotary International is a worldwide service organization of almost three-quarters of a million business and professional men in 149 nations and geographical areas on every continent.

Breitholtz comes to New Paltz following an extended tour of South American and South Pacific areas. During his year in office he will circle the globe at least twice, and will visit Rotary Clubs on every continent.

He will land at Albany Airport on the morning of Oct. 12, where he will be greeted by Mayor Corning of Albany and Governor Rockefeller. He will be escorted in a motorcade to Poughkeepsie and then to New Paltz.

A reception in his honor will begin at 6 p.m.

Prisma Drive Begins Oct. 8

KINGSTON

The annual Prisma magazine subscription drive is slated to start Oct. 8.

Kingston High School girls will be visiting area homes during the 10-day campaign selling magazine subscriptions to raise scholarship funds.

Prisma handles most all popular magazines. Subscribing through Prisma costs no more than dealing directly with the publisher. New, renewal and gift subscriptions are accepted as well as special offers.

The KHS girls' organization each year provides scholarships for deserving senior girls. The outcome of the fund drive determines the amount and number of Prisma scholarships to be awarded next June.

Another Viet Phasing Out Problem—Drug Dealing in the VA Hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Phasing out of the Vietnam war and the resulting discharge of its veterans has created a new and difficult problem for the Veterans Administration: drug dealing in its hospitals.

Officials at Veterans Administration headquarters in Washington minimize drug abuse problems as isolated incidents, but VA hospital directors dispute this.

The men who run the hospitals said the problem is already a major one, that it is growing steadily, that it is a source of violent crimes inside hospitals and that it is nearly impossible to stop.

The problem is most acute in those facilities where large numbers of Vietnam veterans are patients, say the hospital directors.

And a new door to abuses opened with creation of drug treatment centers in VA hospitals. The centers, 32 of which were scheduled to be in operation by next month, seem to draw pushers.

At the VA hospital in Washington, authorities were summoned recently by the chaplain who detected a sweet odor emanating from his meditation room. They learned that six patients had been smoking marijuana there, but haven't been able to learn their names.

Hospital Director A.A. Gaviuzzi ordered the meditation room locked. The next night the patients smoked their pot behind the chapel altar. Now the chapel also is locked.

Gaviuzzi is convinced that the pot parties are continuing in some secluded area of the sprawling hospital complex. "We just don't know where."

"One day I fully expect to get that sweet odor pouring out of the air conditioning ducts," said the director.

The situation is more serious in the Washington VA hospital's new drug-treatment center.

"We have a constant problem of drugs coming into this unit," said its chief physician, Dr. Norman Tamarkin. "We have periodic unannounced searches and we have turned up some drugs."

"It's not uncommon for a patient to come here from another ward and say he's been shooting up every day. One patient in the neuropsychiatric ward was shooting up every day for four months before any patient and visitor every day, country use or sell narcotics. Earlier this year, Michael Burns, executive director of Paralyzed Veterans of America, charged before a Senate subcommittee that drug abuse was particularly widespread in the 166 VA hospitals across the

"If the VA were ever to open the Pandora's box on drug abuse," in spinal-cord-injury wards," he said, "it would make any other study on drug abuse seem like nothing."

Prompted by Burns' charges, the VA conducted an investigation and concluded: "There are 12 VA hospital directors, half said they had direct knowledge of illegal drug activities in their institutions and the other half said they suspected but could not prove such activities. None had been able to do anything about the problem."

GI Sick, Disabled Filling Rooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of sick and disabled veterans awaiting admission to Veterans Administration hospitals has more than doubled this year as the VA faces increased demands from a growing veterans population.

Even though four of every ten veterans who seek admission are rejected, records show the 166 VA hospitals have a waiting list of 6,300 patients, up 2,861 since last Dec. 31.

VA Administrator Donald Johnson said the present waiting list, although the highest in recent years, still is less than 25,000 patients awaiting treatment in 1968.

"VA is providing more medical care for more veterans than ever before in the history of the agency," Johnson said in an interview. He cited the record 818,000 veterans treated in the hospitals last year, and the 8 million outpatient visits. "The total will likely be exceeded this year," he said, as more Vietnam veterans join the ranks of those eligible for treatment.

Johnson said the agency's medical-care budget has more than doubled since 1965, and that the quality of care is steadily improving.

"I firmly believe the VA today is rendering better medical care to more sick and disabled veterans than ever before in history, but I also know that the quest for improvement must be our never-ending objective."

An Associated Press study, including visits to a dozen hospitals, found the majority of patients interviewed were satisfied with the quality of care they receive from VA doctors and nurses.

"They're treating me great," said 20-year-old Wayne A. Webber, in the West Roxbury, Mass., VA hospital recovering from injuries suffered in a helicopter crash. Fellow paraplegic Robert Nadeau agrees: "This treatment has just been fine."

Some patients, however, complained of long waits for treatment.

Another paraplegic at West Roxbury, Ted Chute, 23, said: "I can't turn over in bed by myself and I have to be turned every two hours so I don't get sores. There have been a lot of times I've had to wait 3 1/2 or 4 hours to get turned. I don't know if they don't have enough aides or if the aides don't care."

In another spinal-cord-injury treatment center, at Hines VA hospital near Chicago, Glenn Mayer, 46, paralyzed from the waist down, said: "One day not long ago they took me down to the central bath (for a shower) at 10 in the morning. I didn't get back to the room until 2. My lunch was here waiting for me, but it was cold."

There were widespread complaints among the veterans about difficulties encountered in gaining admittance to the hospitals.

Former Marine Sgt. Richard Evans of Macon, Ga., interviewed at the Atlanta VA hospital, where he is being fitted for an artificial leg, said:

"It took me three days to get into the hospital. I came in one day and waited from 8 'til 4 without being seen. I finally saw the doctor the next day, but he told me to come back the next day. Then I had to sit four hours that day before I got a bed."

The hospital director, Dr. Julian Jarman, agreed "that shouldn't happen," but he said the average waiting time is less than two hours.

Another Atlanta patient, however, said he had to make three trips to the hospital before he was admitted. "Finally," said the 22-year-old Walter Johns of Parsons, Ga., "I got in when I told them I quit my job and was just laying around waiting to get in."

Johns lost his leg to a Vietnam land mine, and Dr. Jarman said admission to the hospital was deferred because the stump hadn't fully healed.

Federal law requires that veterans with service-connected injuries or illnesses receive priority for admission, and VA officials said such veterans are not placed on waiting lists.

However, an examination of the Atlanta's hospital waiting list disclosed that four patients with service-connected ailments were awaiting a bed. So were 10 veterans whose admission was rated "urgent."

"Nobody who needs to be in this hospital at this time is not in here," said Dr. Jarman.

The Atlanta hospital, when built five years ago, was rated as having a 588-bed capacity. It has, however, been operating with funds for an authorized average daily patient census of 410. Because it has never been fully activated by the VA, dozens of rooms intended for patient use are filled with records or have been converted into offices.

At Perry Point, Md., where a VA psychiatric hospital has a waiting list of 99, a 160-bed patient building had disintegrated to the point that it had to be closed down.

The psychiatric hospital at nearby Coatesville, Pa., has a waiting list of only 10, but it also has 24 empty beds in a tuberculosis ward. The hospital director said he asked VA headquarters for permission to convert the vacant beds for psychiatric use.

"They said no," he recalled. "They're afraid there might be a TB epidemic someday."

ARC Moves To New Locale

KINGSTON The Association for Retarded Children has moved its offices and Young Adult Center to 2 Jansen Avenue, according to an announcement made today by Carl A. Genna, president of the Ulster County Chapter.

In making the announcement, Genna said, "we are greatly pleased to have the opportunity to provide more services for the Mentally Retarded Adult. This new facility will give us the occasion to offer a new service of speech therapy for the young adult and older retarded."

While an open house is planned in the fall, the membership and public may tour the programs at any time. Genna also noted the need for volunteers due to the increase of young adults in the program.

SAUGERTIES The first PTA meeting of Glasco School was well attended with first vice president Mrs. Raymond Cadmus presiding.

A petition was presented to the PTA by the school coach asking that money be raised to purchase playground equipment for the school. The petition was signed by the faculty. The Executive Committee will look into the matter and report back to the PTA.

Lists of activities and meetings of all four elementary schools were distributed as well as sign-up sheets for volunteer committee work for the PTA. Anyone wishing to work on a committee may call Mrs. Richard Smith, secretary.

Mrs. Vincent Positano, chairman of the bake sale to be held Saturday, Oct. 9, at the Victory Market; Ebel's Market, Glasco; Grand Union, Market Street; and Empire Market, West Bridge Street, has requested bakers, sellers and card tables.

Bake Sale Set Saturday

SAUGERTIES A bake sale for the benefit of the Glasco PTA will be held on Saturday, Oct. 9 at the Victory Market; Ebel's Market, Glasco; Grand Union, Market Street; and Empire Market on West Bridge Street, Saugerties.

The sale will begin at 9 in all four stores. Home baked goods of all descriptions — brownies, cupcakes, breads, pies, cakes and cookies will be featured.

Anyone wishing to bake and contribute favorite desserts is asked to call Mrs. Vincent Positano, chairman, or any committee members.

Committee members include Mrs. Charles Cafaldo, Mrs. Charles Ascarianno and Mrs. Warren Ward.

Cub Scout Pack 37 Meets

SAUGERTIES Cub Scout Pack 37 held its first pack meeting of the season recently at the Ridge Runners Rod and Gun Club, West Saugerties.

The Webelos den opened the meeting and held an induction ceremony for Philip Dugan, James Berg and Todd Joers. The boys were blindfolded and given "Mohawk haircuts" by Indian garbed Webelos.

Leader, William Mulligan, welcomed the boys into his den. Cubmaster William Crist presented the trophy Pack 37 won for their July 4 float to John Nelson of the Ridge Runners, sponsors of the Pack.

The float, "The Battle of the Monitor and the Merrimack" won second place in the parade. Special thanks were given to the Float Committee, Ed Trnka, designer; Marie Dugan, coordinator; Cody Lumber, Saugerties Lumber and Hudson Cement for materials, and to all the boys and their parents who helped. The trophy will be on display at the Ridge Runners Rod and Gun Club.

Awards were presented to Walter Frey, Todd Joers and Jeffrey Mason.

A committee of parents was appointed to plan the Halloween Pack meeting to be held Friday, Oct. 29 at 7:15 p.m.

Den 1 closed the meeting and a program of slides and movies of past Pack 37 events was presented.

Recently the scouts visited West Point where they viewed a movie on the life of a cadet, toured the museum and then saw the parade. The Scouts were also taken to the Ashokan reservoir for a tour of the facilities courtesy of the City of New York.

Education Week Events

SAUGERTIES In conjunction with National Education Week, the Saugerties Junior and Senior High Schools are celebrating their annual Back To School Night on Tuesday, Oct. 26. On this night the parents will become students for a day as they participate in a mini-schedule of their son's or daughter's school day.

As the parents travel from period to period, they will have the opportunity to hear their children's teachers explain the objectives of the various courses of instruction.

Junior High School parents are requested to meet in the school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m., where they will be welcomed by Principal Robert M. Moser. Parents will leave the cafeteria at 7:45 to attend first period "classes". During "study hall periods," Junior High parents will be served coffee in the cafeteria by students, courtesy of the Junior High Student Government.

The Mid-Hudson Numismatic Club, which meets in Saugerties the first and third Thursdays of the month, has started its fall season with the announcement of a Coin Show to be held Oct. 10 at the VFW Hall, Livingston Street. Saugerties from 12 noon to 5 p.m. All are welcome and admission is free.

Collectors have the chance to buy, sell or trade coins and these shows especially give the beginner a chance to build his collection. There are also displays of special interest. In past shows there have been such displays as Love Tokens, Election buttons and Firearm Convention medals.

Magic Doesn't Help BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Phillip Bonewits, the only man to possess a degree in magic from the University of California, wound up in jail for challenging a "street person" with a dueling sword.

Bonewits told police he wore the 300-year-old European sword as part of his regular dress and pulled it Monday because someone accosted him.

He was booked for brandishing a weapon and held for two hours.

Accused of selling merchandise on Sunday in violation of the General Business Law, Charles J. Golnek Jr., 29, of RD 2, Box 414, West Saugerties, was arrested Tuesday on a warrant by Kingston detectives.

Golnek operates the Mountain Aquarium at 540 Albany Avenue, police said. He was scheduled to appear in City Court.

May Working on Project

WOODSTOCK Legislature. I therefore con-proposes an investigation into the date for supervisor of from (Dist. 12) Woodstock, out that taxes have become an increasing burden to the taxpayer and that yearly lump sum payments directs the Tax Base Study Committee to investigate the possibility of collecting town and county taxes on an installment basis and report its findings to the Legislature.

As an initial move, he will submit a resolution to the County Legislature that findings to the Legislature.

May explained that since beginning my campaign in late August, I have talked to many people in Woodstock who feel that paying taxes in one lump sum creates an undue burden on many taxpayers. This is particularly true since they are payable right after the Christmas Holiday season. For the retired and those people on fixed incomes, this could be critical. I feel that a fairer method would be to pay the taxes in two installments.

May pointed out that the town cannot solve this problem alone, for 8 p.m. Oct. 14. Zena Elementary School, Sawkill, and any change will have to be made by the County political parties have been in-

Martin on Top Marine Rifle Squad

KINGSTON Division, reports Marine Corps Private Brian Martin of Saugerties is a member of the top rifle squad of the First Marine Corps.

Army Recruiter At Capitol Meet

KINGSTON Sergeant First Class Gary L. Flaherty, the local Army Recruiter has been notified that he will be attending the Association of the U.S. Army Convention in Washington, D.C. during the week of October 10th to participate in a forum on the Modern Volunteer Army (MVA) and represent the Army Recruiting Command. The young Sergeant recently returned from Washington where he visited with General Palmer and General Forsythe discussing the Volunteer Army.

The recruiter was selected on his record as one of the best recruiters in today's army. He is presently serving as the district president of the New York State Jaycees. Sgt. Flaherty was an outstanding young man of America during 1966 as a result of his contributions to job, community and country. He began his career with the Jaycees while stationed in Plattsburgh for three years as the army recruiter. During his stay in Plattsburgh he was the local Jaycee president, a director and the internal vice president as well as a chairman on several projects. He received awards for his success both in the recruiting and Jaycee activities.

He was promoted to his present rank of SFC E7 after completing only seven years in the Army. His military awards include the Soldier's medal, the highest award for heroism during peacetime, the bronze star for service in Vietnam, three awards of the army commendation medal, three awards of good conduct medal, national defense service medal, Vietnam service medal and Vietnam campaign medal. While in the army Sgt. Flaherty has attended the University of Maryland and the Plattsburgh State University under the army's tuition assistance program. He graduated from the army's personnel management school and the recruiting and career counselor's course as a distinguished graduate.

During his assignment to Plattsburgh he received national recognition for setting a record for the longest march on crutches, during a 100 mile walk for the Clinton County Gold Star Mother's Fund Campaign to build a monument to the Vietnam War Dead.

and Mrs. Warren Martin of 180 Market Street, is a member of the 1st Squad, 2nd Platoon, Company E of the 7th Marines, cited by the commandant of the Marine Corps.

Squads began competition in early summer with field exercises held throughout the Corps. Nine regimental winners were flown to Quantico, Va. for the final competition. Judging was based on helicopter operations, fire maneuver, fire control and accuracy, casualty handling, patrolling and defense against mines and booby traps.

Thailand Duty For Terpening

U.S. Air Force Technical Sergeant Chauncey J. Terpening, son of Mrs. Catherine J. Terpening of St. Remy, is on duty at U-Tapao Airfield, Thailand.

Sergeant Terpening, a supply supervisor, is assigned to a unit of the Pacific Air Forces, headquarters for air operations in Southeast Asia, the Far East and Pacific area. Before his arrival in Thailand, he served at Lackland AFB, Texas.

The sergeant graduated in 1952 from Kingston High School. His wife is the former Ima L. McColley.

in the Marines in November of 1969.

Private First Class Paul W. Mushlit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton E. Mushlit of Ridge Road, Shokan, enlisted in the Marines on March 23, 1971. He is now stationed at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba with the 8th Marine Division.

A graduate of Onteora Central School, class of 1970, he was employed by Big Scot before entering the Marines. He is a machine gun gunner and has been stationed in Cuba since Aug. 21.

Marine First Lieutenant Chester F. Gaede Jr., of Bearsville, is a student pilot with Training Squadron 22 at the Naval Air Station in Kingsville, Tex.

He is receiving instruction and practical experience in instrument navigation, low-level/high speed navigation, gunnery and rocketry.

Upon completion of his training he will be awarded the "Wings of Gold" of a Naval Aviator. He attended Springfield College in Springfield, Mass.

Navy Petty Officer Second Class Robert L. Charnello, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Charnello of 55 Tubby Street, and husband of the former Miss Sharon M. Spoonhower of Route 2, all of Kingston, has reported for duty at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

Strange, Commanding Officer of the Navy Recruiting Station, Albany administers the oath of enlistment to Miss Susan Fisher. Seaman Fisher, who was sworn in last month, was the first young woman enlisted into the WAVES in the four-state recruiting area under the provisions of the Navy's new Junior College Graduate Training Program for women. Miss Fisher had completed three years of college work and qualified for enlistment in pay grade E-3, Seaman, and was guaranteed technical training at one of the Navy's many schools.

Service

Veteran Tips For Woodsmen

Of the many veterans who will be taking to the state's woodlands this Fall to hunt their favorite game, veterans with forty per cent or more service-connected disabilities may be issued a hunting license without charge, reminded Charles Culver, State Veteran Counselor.

Eligible veterans may also be issued a free big game license, he said.

Veterans may pick up licenses at their local hunting licensing agency by producing a statement from the VA certifying that they have a forty per cent or more service-connected disability.

Culver noted that servicemen who are residents of New York State, and are on leave in the State, no longer than 30 days, may be issued a hunting license. They must, however, purchase a license to hunt big game. The servicemen must carry with them a copy of their leave or furlough papers, in addition to their service identification tags.

For information concerning these and other benefits for veterans and servicemen contact the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs local counseling center located at County Office Building, Kingston, Office Hours: Monday thru Friday 9 to 5.

Marbletown Recycling

The Same 10-12 Volunteers

STONE RIDGE Marbletown's fledgling efforts to recycle the town's paper products have met with disappointing results. That, at least, is the opinion of the 10 or 12 weary volunteers who have done most of the work themselves.

Marbletown's most recent attempt to restore ecological sanity to the town and its landfill site came last weekend.

Mrs. Rosalind Sedacca, the leader of the Marbletown Recycling Project, reported that the "same 10 or 12 volunteers" showed up Saturday to "do all the work."

They separated, bundled, trundled and loaded about 10 tons of newspapers and magazines.

But even that amount was disappointing, said Mrs. Sedacca. They had hoped for a minimum of 12 tons. The paper they were able to collect filled only about 75 per cent of a huge truck that transported the material back to a Poughkeepsie recycling plant.

In addition, much of the material had been stored at the town garage since the last paper drive. Little new material was collected on Saturday, indicating that homeowners still decline in storing paper and magazines for future drives.

For each ton of paper recycled Saturday, the Project will receive $5. All the money collected is put into a fund, to be used to guarantee that recycling operations are held in future years. The group would also like to use some of the money to erect a shed near the landfill site to store paper during the winter months.

Future drives for the Marbletown area are still planned, although with perhaps less enthusiasm than before. The next drive may be delayed until Spring, said Mrs. Sedacca, and she urged Marbletown area residents to store papers and magazines over the winter. She also requested anyone willing to donate space for storage of materials to contact her or any member of the group.

"If you think of all the newspapers, magazines, leaflets, flyers and folders our people will discard this winter, it's really amazing," said Mrs. Sedacca, "and then consider that 50 per cent of our landfill is filled with paper that could be recycled."

Installation

Ulster Kiwanis Club installed a new slate of officers at a meeting Monday night at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. (L) is Roger Scholl, immediate past president; Vincent Sheridan, new president and Pat Bottino, first vice-president. Jack Hill was elected second vice-president. Ulster Kiwanis is active in community improvement and in getting other people interested in community affairs. Members work with youth groups and senior citizens and sponsor such things as the Key Club at Coleman High School and Salvation Army sponsored dinners for senior citizens. A pancake breakfast is being planned for the benefit of Ulster Library, Sunday, Oct. 31 at the Ulster Hose Company, Rt. 9W.

Valley Move
On Post-Vietnam

POUGHKEEPSIE The Mid-Hudson Inter-County Council will organize a special committee as part of a statewide effort to ease the path of veterans returning from Vietnam. Council president David C. Schoentag announced the formation of the committee after a special meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Each of the six counties in the Council will be requested to recommend the names of eight persons to serve on the newly created Mid-Hudson Post-Vietnam Committee. The committee will meet in the Board of Representatives Chambers in Poughkeepsie at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 28, to be addressed by State Commerce Commissioner Neal L. Moylan, chairman of the State Post-Vietnam Co-ordinating Committee.

At the organizational meeting, an executive committee of 12 persons (two from each county) will be appointed. This executive committee will meet with Robert E. Woodworth, executive director of the State Post-Vietnam Co-ordinating Committee.

In announcing the committee's formation, Schoentag commented, "I feel that we should do all within our power to aid our returning veterans."

"I will recommend to the committee that a Veterans Assistance Day be held, possibly in a local armory, at which representatives of state agencies, educational institutions, directors of veterans agencies, etc., would be present to counsel veterans and answer questions. This kind of program was so successful in the metropolitan Albany area, with 500 veterans attending, that a second meeting is being held this November."

The Mid-Hudson Inter-County Council was organized by Schoentag in 1968 as a means for exchanging information on mutual problems and generating inter-governmental co-operation. Schoentag has served as president of the Council since its inception. Its members include Putnam, Orange, Ulster, Dutchess, Greene and Columbia counties.

No Discussion
On Statehood
For New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—The question of statehood for New York City is no longer worth discussing, according to Sen. John J. Marchi, chairman of the Senate committee on the city.

The Staten Island Republican said Tuesday he was abandoning plans to hold legislative hearings on the question in light of the failure of statehood proponents to get the issue on the November ballot.

Marchi said that since the city clerk refused to certify the "local dispersal" of spiders that statehood question as an election day referendum, "the silence of the statehood proponents has been most eloquent."

Some Openings
In Red Hook
Continuing Ed

RED HOOK Some openings in Red Hook Central School's Continuing Education are still available, noted director Joseph H. Barnes today, even though early response has been "excellent."

Most classes still have several openings. Interested people can still register through the first night of class.

Classes that are now full are Slimnastics, candlemaking, crawl and macrame, and beginning sewing.

John Neilsen, instructor for men's physical fitness, has announced that the activities for the course will be tailored to the needs of the men attending, with a variety of individual and group sports activities possible.

Rains Spider Webs

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI)—It's raining spider webs in this coastal community.

Fragments of web have been dropping from the sky and clinging to bushes, trees and telephone wires.

Zoologist John Davis of Carmel Valley said the airborne material appeared to be from a "local dispersal" of spiders that use spin balloon-like webs and use them to "float" over the countryside.

ASC Urging Full Vote of Farmers on December 1

KINGSTON Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service are encouraging all eligible farmers, Ulster County officials of the Conservation Service are encouraging all eligible farmers, Farmer elected ASC committees, community and county, to vote this fall in the ASC committee elections.

The elections will be held Dec. 1 and ballots will be mailed to eligible voters. Farmer voters will elect three community committeemen and two alternates in each ASC community in the county.

The nominations - by petition period for ASC community elections opened Oct. 4 and will continue through Oct. 27.

After the community committees are elected, the newly elected members hold a convention to fill vacancies on the County ASC Committee. The county committee makes all local farm program decisions, with the assistance of community committees.

A list of known eligible voters in the county is open for inspection at the Ulster County ASCS office, 54 John Street, Kingston. Further details of voter eligibility, nomination by petition, community boundaries and election procedures are available at the office also.

Peking Evidence Points to Something Vital

NEW YORK (AP) — Bits of evidence coming out of Peking suggest that something important affecting Chinese Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung has taken place. What it is no one outside of the Communist Politburo can say. The Chinese have not chosen to disclose the secret.

Whether it will affect the planned visit, before next May, of President Nixon to Peking is equally uncertain. Highly placed officials in Washington believe that an illness or even the death of one of the top Chinese leaders would not alter the situation. But a political shake-up connected with recent friendly Chinese overtures toward the United States would be another matter.

Predicting the course of affairs in mainland China is a hazardous occupation. But from what can be pieced together it would appear that the moderates, led by Premier Chou En-lai, continue to have a commanding voice in Chinese policy. Regardless of what has happened, Chou is publicly visible. He appeared at National Day celebrations Oct. 1. Chairman Mao and his designated successor, Defense Minister Lin Biao, did not.

Their absence, combined with the decision of the official Peking People's Daily not to carry their photographs, may indicate that Mao, and perhaps Lin, are deeply involved in a sudden change in the political spectrum.

A series of events — or non-events — has touched off worldwide speculation about what may be going on in this vast and populous country. In mid-

September it was announced there would be no parade at the National Day celebrations. Then there were reports that civil and military aviation had been grounded for three days. It later developed this coincided with the crash of a Chinese plane in Mongolia under unexplained circumstances.

Oct. 1 produced more surprises. One was the failure of Mao or Lin to appear even briefly as they do on similar May Day programs. The second was the nonpublication of the usual National Day editorial written jointly by the Liberation Army Daily, the Peking People's Daily and Hungchi or Red Flag.

Chinese readers must have been shocked to note such departures from almost sanctified custom. The display of Mao's photographs in all newspapers is a custom dating back to 1949. Lin's has appeared beside them since he became party vice chairman and heir-apparent in 1966.

The decision not to print them could have been Mao's.

But what seems more likely is in China and effectively silenced his enemies. Now Chen Po-ta himself and the party leftists are said to be the center of a new political storm, perhaps because they opposed the party policy of rapprochement with the United States.

When the cultural purge ended in the spring of 1969, Mao, Lin Piao and Chen Po-ta emerged the apparent winners. Chen became No. 4 in the hierarchy. But in fact the army gained the controlling voice. It is believed to have dictated the new "soft" line and to have named Chou En-lai to carry it out.

So if Chen resisted that line he also was fighting the army. Both Chou and Yeh Chien-ying, the army leader who sat in on the July talks with Nixon's aide, Henry Kissinger, played public roles in the Oct. 1 celebrations. This gives weight to those who say that the army has been successful in its quarrel with Chen.

FOUNTAIN BORDERS IN AUTUMNAL SPLENDOR

A BURST OF BLOOMS IN SEAMON PARK SETTING

The Daily Freeman

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y. WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 6, 1971

TWENTY FIVE

Mum's the Word in Saugerties... Annual Festival Is Underway

SAUGERTIES The Sixth Annual Chrysanthemum Festival is underway at Seamon Park, Saugerties, and will continue through the height of the blooming season, to Oct. 25.

The featured activities will take place Sunday, Oct. 10, when the traditional Sunday Afternoon of Music will be presented by the Rotary Club, and Sunday, Oct. 17, when the Woman's Club will stage its second gigantic outdoor art show. There are no fees for any of the park activities.

At Seamon Park, the handiwork of caretaker Bernard Kaminski and the Saugerties Department of Public Works is apparent everywhere. Although the slopes, flower beds and pathways still boast the summer blooms, exuberant yellow mums dominate the scene, with other species budded heavily also.

The crews have continued to add new planting areas at the park, as well as creating a special new display in the lower area at the park's northern extreme. The display surrounds the recently excavated remains of the crumbled grist mill along the Sawyerkill Creek. The recovery and exhibit are the result of efforts of the newly organized Little Sawyer Association.

In addition to the park efforts, the village crews have enhanced entrances to the community and vacant lots along the main thoroughfares with plantings. Village efforts include placing of mums in colorful street corner flower pots also. The large urns are the result of a special creative effort of the DPW last year. Additionally, craggy, boulder-strewn Nany Goat Hill off Partition Street has been laced with a large collection of blooms.

The Saugerties Society of Little Gardens will place bouquets and arrangements in banks and other major business establishments in the town.

To add to the colorful scene throughout the entire area, are well tended private gardens featuring still blooming summer flowers and bursting mum borders.

The Festival brochure will be available for distribution at Seamon Park during the festival. The brochure contains a brief history of the park and information relative to the purposes and goals of the Little Sawyer Association. The group is dedicated to re-building the deteriorated grist mill along the Sawyerkill Creek. The Society of Little Gardens has contributed an article on the care and culture of chrysanthemums aimed at assisting the mum gardener.

A complete program for the Sunday Musicals will be announced by the Rotary Club.

Mrs. Roland LeBlanc, chairman, and Mrs. Steven Ryan, co-chairman, are still receiving entries in the Woman's Club Art Show. Last year more than 15 artists participated in the outdoor event showing more than 500 works.

At Saugerties High School, the homecoming football game with the Poughkeepsie Pioneers has been proclaimed the Mum Bowl and will feature appropriate activities. The game will be played this Saturday.

Visitors are welcome at the park any time during the festival. Floodlights will give evening visitors an excellent nocturnal view of the park. In the event of rain Oct. 10, the musical and art show will run concurrently on Oct. 17. Rain date for Oct. 17 is scheduled Oct. 24.

Cherry Hill Contingent Still Protests

NEW PALTZ

A contingent of from 60 to 80 persons from the Cherry Hill section of New Paltz showed up at Monday night's meeting of the Town Planning Board to protest the use of Bruce Street as an element in the proposed bypass from South Putt Corners Road to Route 32 South, according to Planning Board President Anthony P. Costa.

A group of Cherry Hill residents had appeared for the same purpose at the last meeting of the New Paltz Village Board.

Costa said the planning board response was that it had no specific position on the Bruce Street question because no one had ever asked it for an opinion or informed it that this was where the road was going to go.

He did say the position of the planning board was that the secondary roads as well as the major roads in New Paltz should be improved.

Costa reported the remapping of the Plutarch Swamp had been completed by the Soil Conservation Service and the board will seek to zone the area as an ecological refuge. The board will seek to have the Town of Lloyd board do the same.

Responding to the question raised locally by Democratic candidate for town supervisor Thomas Nyquist who questioned the propriety of Costa, who is New Paltz Town Supervisor Anthony J. Moriello's brother-in-law, serving as chairman of the planning board, the board issued a statement. Nyquist has called it "nepotism".

Costa said the board resented Nyquist involving the board in political matters, as it had tried to remain non-partisan.

Costa said a board statement asserted the members of the planning board were selected by the town board, but the town board always followed the recommendation of the planning board; the planning board do not get paid.

Costa told The Freeman he had never even recovered expenses during his years of service on the planning board.

Many Blue-Collar Jobs Are Going Begging

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 6.1 per cent of the nation's work force is unemployed, but many blue-collar and other jobs requiring a broad range of technical skills are going begging.

Welders are in critical demand in Georgia while policemen, registered nurses and physical therapists are needed in California.

In Boston, Carl W. Nickerson says his placement office has 162 unfilled positions available with no one to take them.

"We've got some jobs we can't fill, especially for welders and machinists," says an employment official in Dallas.

Elsewhere, an Associated Press survey shows, the story's the same: Wanted—people with technical skills.

"There is a demand for people with more technical and less theoretical backgrounds," says Prof. Hollis Baird, director of Lincoln College in Boston. "The job situation is much better for those graduates with associate degrees than those with a B.S. (bachelor of science) or M.S. (master's)."

Associate degrees are awarded upon completion of programs taking less than four years to complete.

A number of programs, especially at technical and vocational schools, are designed to prepare students for immediate employment in specialized positions from just below the professional level to those requiring very limited specialized training beyond the high school level.

But during the past decade America's high school graduates flocked in ever larger numbers to the nation's liberal arts colleges. Educators point to several reasons for the trend, including draft deferments and parental pressure.

In 1970, the last year for which figures are available, more than one million persons received bachelor's, master's or doctorate degrees. This factor, coupled with others such as cutbacks in the aerospace industry, has resulted in an oversupply in college-trained personnel in several fields.

"This year's seniors faced the toughest employment market in years," according to the College Placement Council. "Employers across the country are hiring 26 per cent fewer seniors and graduate students than last year, an off year in itself," the council says in a statement.

The American Association of State Colleges and Universities reports "significant decreases in the numbers of students with registered education majors" and attributes the drop largely to the job shortage. The association estimates 100,000 educators had to look outside the profession this past year for employment.

Herman Hahn, administrator of Career Academy, a private trade school in Los Angeles, says the under- and over-skilled workers are having a hard time finding a job. "We're training the in-between," he says.

For those in-between, these are often boom times. "The employment of blue collar workers is probably higher than professionals or the lesser skilled," says Al Jones, who oversees trade schools for the Georgia State Board of Education.

Another Blow For Computers

NEW YORK (AP) — The volatile computer industry, with annual revenues of $12.5 billion, has been hit by another of its periodic shakeouts.

RCA Corp. stunned the industry on Sept. 17 by pulling out of the highly competitive general purpose computer market.

Only a year earlier Robert W. Sarnoff, chairman of RCA, had challenged the industry giant, International Business Machines Corp., with a new line of big computers.

With a year of dismal experience behind it, RCA decided to withdraw rather than spend an additional $500 million in the next five years in an effort to make its computer operations profitable. RCA said it expected to write off a $250 million loss this year.

Memorex Corp. of Santa Clara, Calif., a manufacturer of computer peripheral equipment, charged that RCA was a victim of IBM's "monopolistic position" in the industry.

IBM has declined to reply, or to speculate publicly on the reasons for RCA's withdrawal or its long range impact on the computer industry.

In another development, Honeywell Corp. said it was expanding its capacity to make large scale computers but said that this had nothing to do with RCA's withdrawal.

RCA said it would continue to develop and make specialized communications systems for government and defense, communications networks and business.

RCA employed about 10,000 people in its computer division. Layoffs already have started at manufacturing facilities in Massachusetts, Florida, Maine and New Jersey.

RCA computers accounted for about 4 per cent of the total market and in 1970 produced about $225 million in revenues, 7 per cent of the company's total income.

tion. "I think this is due to the fact we are moving into a service-oriented society."

Workers in construction trades are in big demand in Georgia urban areas now, Jones says, and health occupations are booming.

"We" five years making with no trouble.

Allen Abbott, placement officer at Chicago's Dunbar High School, says 90 per cent of the 1971 graduates applying for jobs "get something." Most unplaced Dunbar graduates were college-bound, Abbott said.

Florida State Employment Service, says "skilled journey-men's occupations are still demanding," says Dr. Eric Mills, dean of career education at Florida Junior College. "So are skilled air conditioning and refrigeration technicians."

Dental technology is the No. 1 skill needed in the Los Angeles area, according to Hahn. "There's a great demand for these and so few schools. Hotel management is also good."

The problem, says Richard Stewart, administrator of Career Guidance School in Washington, D.C., is parents. "A lot of our clients, who are college age, come in with their parents," Stewart said. "We need."

test them and if we say he's best suited for a vocational or technical school, the parents scream. 'I didn't raise my son to be a laborer.' 'What our society really needs,' Stewart said, "are electrical technicians, not electrical engineers."

Freshmen at State Hospital

NANCY TRESALONI

GAIL SZYMANSKI
(Photo Workshop)

Several area residents are among the 30 freshmen students entering the program at Hudson River State Hospital School of Nursing.

They include Nancy Ann Tresaloni, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas T. Tresaloni of 385 Delaware Avenue, and Gail Marie Szymanski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Szymanski of 259 First Avenue, Kingston. Graduates of John A. Coleman High School, they are freshmen in the School of Nursing at Hudson River State Hospital.

Other students include: Kathleen Marie Downes, Linda J. Ratchford, Hyde Park; Judy Mae Cushing, Rhinebeck; Andrew C. Ellis, Red Hook; Jill Margaret Phillips, Hyde Park; Ruth Carol Finch, Saugerties; Eileen Jeffreys, Rhinebeck; Josephine A. Flandreau, Tivoli.

Miss Leslie Anne Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Reed, 23 East Chester Street, Kingston, became the bride of Richard Wayne Van Voorhis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Van Voorhis, Maypark, Kingston, on Saturday, Sept. 25 at 2 p.m. at the Fair Street Reformed Church, Kingston. The Rev. Randall Bosch officiated at the double ring ceremony. Traditional wedding selections were provided by Mrs. Betty Lindsey, accompanied by Miss Karen Lowe, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of sate-beau on the empire styling. Chantilly lace was applied on the bodice and the full-length hemline was bordered with matching lace. Her two-tiered cathedral length mantilla was bordered with lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of spider mums, pompons, stephanotes, and ivy.

Miss Nancy Stafford, Mt. Marion, was maid of honor in a peach multi-colored chiffon gown fashioned with smoke cummerbund, round ring neckline, and semi-bishop sleeves. She wore a matching picture hat and carried a basket of fall colored chrysanthemums.

Local Special Education Teachers on State Committee

Mrs. Ezella M. Marable, of the Kingston Consolidated School System, and Mrs. Laura G. Chasin of Rondout Valley Central Schools, are two of six special education teachers in New York State appointed to serve on a state committee entitled "Guidance and Counseling Needs of the Handicapped." Mrs. Marable has taught both trainable and educable special education classes for several years in addition to having experience in teaching fourth grade and nursery school. She is a graduate of State University College of Education at Plattsburgh, and has done graduate work at Plattsburgh, the College of St. Rose and Russell Sage College in Albany.

This committee was appointed by the New York State Association of Teachers of Mentally Handicapped, Inc. and the New York State Personnel and Guidance Association last spring to study the guidance and counseling needs of special education children in the public schools of New York State. It is felt that the guidance personnel in the public schools have been a together too "college placement oriented" and neglectful of the needs of the special student. This committee has been meeting in Albany, trying to evaluate the current guidance program. They will make recommendations to the State Education Department the early part of next year.

Mrs. Marable and Mrs. Chasin will be a part of a panel discussion group at two conventions this fall: the New York State Personnel and Guidance Association convention which will be held at the Concord Hotel, October 24-27, and the New York State Association for Teachers of Mentally Handicapped, Inc. convention which also will be at the Concord, October 28-31. Mrs. Marable and Mrs. Chasin are residents of Kingston. Mrs. Marable lives with her husband Charles at 50 Franklin Street. Mrs. Chasin lives with her husband, Dr. Milton Chasin, at Skytop Apartments.

Mrs. Chasin is a graduate of Temple University of Liberal Arts and has done graduate work at Russell Sage College. She has taught primary educables and is currently teaching senior high school special class. Both women are active in the County and State Association of Teachers of Mentally Handicapped, Inc.

Also on this committee are six guidance counselors and two consultants from the State Education Department — Mrs. Dorothy Buehring (formerly of Kingston) from the Bureau for Handicapped Children, and Kenneth York from the State Guidance Department.

The Reverend John Mongin officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a beige floral print, floor length skirt and beige knit blouse. Miss Nancy Jean Rhymmer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Joseph

Rhymer - Molyneux Wedding Told

Miss Linda Cay Rhymer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Rhymer, 32 Prince Street, Kingston, became the bride of Lee A. Molyneux, son of Mrs. Jay E. Molyneux of West Hurley, and the late Jay E. Molyneux, on Friday evening, Sept. 3, at The Reformed Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop Place, Kingston.

Felece of Glenerie Lake park served as best man. A dinner for the immediate family was held at The Skytop Restaurant following the wedding ceremony. Both Mr. and Mrs. Molyneux are employed by I. B. M. Corporation in Kingston. Upon returning from their honeymoon in Key Biscayne, Fla., they will reside in Woodstock.

Director Named For Sweet Adelines

Sweet Adelines chorus announces the appointment of a new director, Barbara Bondar. Mrs. Bondar is a charter member of the chorus and served as its first president. She has been assistant director and sang tenor with the Ban-jos quartet. Her past musical experience has been as piano accompanist for choruses and glee clubs. Mrs. Bondar attended the State University of New York at Oneonta, majoring in elementary education, and taught at the Lake Katrine School. She presently resides in Kingston with her husband, Bob, and two children. The chorus will be working on a varied program this year, including "If I ruled the World," "A Fellow Needs a Girl," and some traditional barbershop arrangements. Prospective member are invited to join Sweet Adelines for rehearsals each Tuesday evening at 8 at St. James Methodist Church.

Columbiettes Annual Breakfast Held Sunday

Columbiettes of Kingston Council No. 275, Knights of Columbus, held their 14th annual Communion breakfast in the K of C Hall after the 8 o'clock Mass at St. Joseph's Church, this city, on October 3rd. They were attended by the Honor Guard of the Fourth Degree Assembly Knights of Columbus.

Breakfast was prepared and served by the Knights of Columbus. Guests at the speakers table included the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, chaplain of the Columbiettes and principal speaker; Worthy Faithful Navigator Charles Trice; Worthy Grand Knight Philip Dreiser; Worthy Co-Ordinator Joseph DiPeri.

The invocation was given by Msgr. John J. O'Reilly.

Introductions were made by Mrs. Joseph Bruno, breakfast chairman. President Mrs. Joseph DiPeri welcomed members and their friends. Two past presidents of the Columbiettes were in attendance, Mrs. Louis Lambiasi and Mrs. John Coffey.

Msgr. O'Reilly addressed the gathering and stressed the importance of having the courage to adhere to one's Faith and upholding its convictions and teaching in spite of pressures and dissenters.

Mrs. Thomas Turk, co-chairman of the breakfast, presented the corsages and made the floral table decorations.

The closing prayer was offered by Msgr. O'Reilly.

Rapid Hose Auxiliary Meets

The Ladies Auxiliary of Rapid Hose Co. No. 1 will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening, Oct. 14, at 8 p.m. in the meeting rooms on Hone Street, Kingston. The Halloween Party to be held on Saturday evening, Nov. 6, will be discussed.

All members are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Teachers of Mentally Handicapped to Hold Dinner

The Ulster County Chapter of the New York State Association of Teachers of Mentally Handicapped, Inc., will hold its first annual dinner meeting of the year, at 6:30, Wednesday, Oct. 13, at the Emma Wygant School, Route 32 North, Kingston.

Mrs. Anne Burgess, executive director of the Columbia County Association for Retarded Children and state advisor to Y.O.U.T.H. (Youth Organized and United to Help), and Thomas Cranna, vice-president of Y.O.U.T.H., will be the guest speakers. They will talk about this newly organized association for young people and how it is working towards promoting programs for retarded children throughout the state. All interested persons are invited to attend.

State Chairman of Pages At Recent DAR Conference

The 75th Annual Conference of the New York State Organization of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held at the Flagship-Rochester, Rochester, from September 27 to October 1.

A local resident, Miss Jacqueline F. Post, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Post of West Hurley, served as State Chairman of Pages. Miss Post, who is a member of the On-ti-ora Chapter, Catskill, had a personal interview with Miss Roberta Plutzik, reporter with the Rochester Democrat. An article regarding this interview coverage was afforded the Conference through local newspapers and the New York Times. On Saturday, Oct. 2, another article appeared in the Times which included Miss Post's picture, holding the Flag of the United States of America before the delegation of Daughters.

Miss Post has previously served the New York Organization as Personal Page to Mrs. James E. Clyde, immediate past State Regent and Mrs. Erwin F. Seimes, former President General of the National Society.

Miss Post is a graduate of the State University, Plattsburg, and a member of the Alpha Delta Theta Sorority. She is employed as a school nurse teacher in the Kingston City Schools, Consolidated.

Good News For Local Bakers

Mrs. Vernon Hull of Kingston, Grand Prize Winner in The Freeman's Recipe Contest in January, contacted the Woman's Department today that there is a bumper crop of butternuts this year in the area, especially in the Kripplebush area.

Butternuts are an important ingredient in Mrs. Hull's award-winning recipe for Hudson Valley Butternut Cake.

Reformed Church Women Attend Meeting, Workshops

Six executive committee members of the Women's Classical Union of Ulster, Reformed Church in America, recently attended the Annual Meeting and Workshops of the New York Synodical Council at First Reformed Church, Hastings on Hudson, N. Y.

Mrs. Clifford Davis, treasurer, Mrs. Warren D. Myer, spiritual life secretary; Mrs. John Mongin, educational secretary-elect; Miss Edythe Newkirk, service secretary and Mrs. Kenneth Sandberg, organization secretary, as well as Mrs.

Harold Schadewald, former executive committee member. Their personal spiritual enrichment was fostered by messages presented by Mrs. J. F. Welwood, director of the National Department of Women's Work, R.C.A., officers of the Synodical Union the president of the host church and the installing officer, Mrs. Everett Griek.

In addition, the women received training in the afternoon workshops which will be held for Guild members on Wednesday, Oct. 13. On that day the Women's Classical Union of Ulster will hold its Annual Fall Conference at the Katsbaan Reformed Church, Mrs. Christian Walvoord of New Paltz will be the featured speaker at the morning session. Reservations for the luncheon should be made immediately, with Mrs. William Fiero of Katsbaan. It is announced, with apologies from the executive committee, that because of space limitations there can be no provision for nursery care at the conference.

Other upcoming events of interest to Reformed Church women of Ulster County are: Open House at Warwick Estates for women of the New York area will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 26. Reservation deadline is October 19.

Mrs. Kenneth Sandberg of Kingston. The mid-week Women's Fall Conference of the Particular Synod of New York will take place November 3 and 4 at Warwick. The deadline is October 20, also with Mrs. Sandberg if the registration form has been misplaced.

The Congressional Rating Game—Perfect Scores for Four in House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Goodell, R-N.Y., who was defeated in the 1970 election, made its offering today to the congressional rating game, giving four House members and no senators perfect scores on key votes during 1969-70. The highest Senate percentage for the 26 votes in 1970 tallied by Ripon was 96 out of a possible 100 by Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., who was defeated in the 1970 election. Fourteen other senators, including eight Democrats, got scores of 80 or more. In the House, Republican Reps. Lawrence Coughlin of Pennsylvania, Gilbert Gude of Maryland, Paul McCloskey of California and Donald Riegle of Michigan scored 100 on a list of 17 key votes covering the full two-year session, 1969-70. Eleven Republicans and three Democrats scored in the nineties. Goodell, a Jamestown Republican, was defeated by Conservative - Republican James L. Buckley last fall. Of the GOP House members scoring in the 90s, Daniel E. Button of Albany was defeated in his re-election bid by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, an Amsterdam Democrat, in the only congressional race in the country which, because of reapportionment, pitted incumbent against incumbent last fall. Ripon earlier did a 1969 rating on the Senate, when there also were no perfect records according to the standards set by the society, which is often at odds with both administration and congressional Republican policy positions. The top senators after Goodell in 1970 were Clifford Case, R-N.J., 92; Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., 91; Edward Brooke, R-Mass., and Robert Packwood, R-Ore., 88; Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., 87; Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., 83; Fred Harris, D-Okla., 82; Alan Cranston, D-Calif., Phillip Hart, D-Mich., and Stephen Young, D-Ohio, all 81; Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., and Walter Mondale, D-Minn., all 80. House members rated 90 or above were Reps. John Tunney, D-Calif., 90; Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., 92; Silvio Conte, R-Mass., 94; Margaret Heckler, R-Mass., 94; Marvin Esch, R-Mich., 94; Joseph Minish, D-N.J., 94; Daniel Button, R-N.Y., 92; Hamilton Fish, R-N.Y., 94; Ogden Reid, R-N.Y., 94; Howard Robison, R-N.Y., 94; Edwin Koch, D-N.Y., 94; Charles Mosher, R-Ohio, 94; William Stanton, R-Ohio, 94; and Robert Stafford, R-Vt., 94. The lowest Ripon rating for the Senate was four, given to Sens. John Sparkman, D-Ala., and James Eastland, D-Miss. In the House, Rep. John McMillan, D-S.C., got the only zero, while Reps. Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., and Speedy O. Long, D-La., each got 6.

Orioles Sweep AL Playoffs 3rd Time

Weaver Concerned About Powell

UTTER DEJECTION—Oakland Athletic Reggie Jackson all alone, is hunched over in the A's dugout after the Baltimore Orioles won the third consecutive and final game in the American League playoffs to give them the pennant. Jackson stayed in this position, alone, for ten minutes after the game ended. (UPI PHOTO BY STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER CHARLES BLAGDON.)

OAKLAND (UPI)—Concern over the painful wrist of slugger Boog Powell was the only cloud on the horizon for Baltimore's American League champion Orioles today while they waited for the start of the World Series in Baltimore Saturday.

"Maybe the three days rest will help Boog," said Orioles manager Earl Weaver, who disclosed that Powell "almost passed out" at one point during the Orioles' 5-3 victory over Oakland Tuesday that completed a three-game sweep of the American League playoffs for the third straight year.

The romp over the A's certainly produced no other problems for Weaver, and the doughty little manager indicated he doesn't worry much about whether the Giants or the Pirates eventually win the National League flag. "I've got four 20-game winners," Weaver pointed out, "and I can go either way against either the Giants or the Pirates."

"One of those clubs has pitching (the Giants) and the other (the Pirates) hits," said Weaver. "We'll just wait and see how it comes out." Suddenly remembering that the size of the World Series shares depends on the size of the crowds, Weaver amended his neutrality stance.

"Because you might say I've got mercenary motives," he added with a grin. "I'd like to see the team with the biggest playoff ballpark win that playoff."

Weaver professed not to know which team that is, which is like claiming he didn't know who bats next inning. It's the Pirates.

Powell, of course, is a worry. The big first baseman, who hit two homers in the second game of the playoffs, was obviously in pain as he swung on Tuesday—so much that in the eighth inning with a runner on third waiting to be picked up by even a fly ball, big Boog tried to punt.

"With my hand hurting like it was, that seemed to be the right thing to do, he said. It was just before then, Weaver said, that Powell nearly fainted.

"We gave him some smelling salts and a soft drink, and he seemed to feel a little better."

While the Orioles weren't making any claims about being a "super team," the A's came darn close to calling Baltimore that after going the way of the Minnesota Twins, who also lost playoffs in three straight games to the Orioles in '69 and '70.

"They're the better club and they beat hell out of us," said A's slugger Sal Bando, whose home run joined with Reggie Jackson's two homers for the A's only runs in the final game. "Baltimore is the best team assembled in baseball."

The Orioles reached that 9-0 playoff record despite wobbly pitching by Jim Palmer and a bunch of blown opportunities on offense in the final game.

Palmer couldn't get his curve ball over the plate until the ninth inning, when he wound things up with a flourish by striking out the side. He gave up seven hits, but his salvation was that all three A's homers came with the bases empty.

"I was just trying to throw a lot of fastballs," said Palmer. "I had some trouble in the early innings, but I felt stronger as the game progressed."

A's manager Dick Williams was coming in for some second guessing on what turned out to be the key play of the game.

With the score tied at 1-1 in the fifth inning, runners on second and third and two out, he ordered A's starter Diego Segui to walk left-handed batter Ellie Hendricks and pitch to right-handed Brooks Robinson.

Brooksie, hero of the '70 World Series, promptly busted a two-run single to center field to make it 3-1 and the A's never caught up.

"We were just playing the fastball, and I got it," Williams said.

Robinson himself defended Williams.

Bucs, Leading 2-1, Tap Steve Blass

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates tapped confident Steve Blass to try to clinch the National League pennant for them today, and at least one of Blass' teammates felt the San Francisco Giants already were dead.

"Their whole pitching staff, the whole Giant pitching staff, looks tired to me," said Bob Robertson, who can speak with a little authority on the subject.

Robertson slammed his fourth home run in two games Tuesday as the Pirates beat Juan Marichal, the Giants' ace, 2-1, to take a two games to one lead in this best-of-five series. Although it took a homer by Robertson's roommate, Richie Hebner, to win the game in the eighth inning, Robertson indicated he thought the series was pretty much over.

Gaylord Perry, the San Francisco starter today, "isn't throwing the ball good," Robertson said.

Perry beat Blass and the Pirates 5-4 in the playoff opener last Saturday, but Blass said he would be satisfied to pitch the same kind of game.

"The only thing I was disappointed in was the pitch I threw to (Willie) McCovey," Blass said, a reference to the two-run homer McCovey hit off him Saturday.

"Otherwise I wouldn't change a darn thing. We think we can win it. We'd think we could win it if we were down oh-and-two. We always think we can win it."

A 16-game winner during the regular season—including one victory against Pittsburgh—Perry starts today with only three days rest instead of his normal four.

If the Giants were to win today, Manager Charlie Fox said reliever Jerry Johnson, whose 67 appearances during the season did not include a single start, would pitch the decisive game Thursday. Pittsburgh, obviously did not want such a confrontation.

Hebner, whose game-winning home run shut off the boos that began when he made an error to allow the Giants their only run Tuesday, said he was looking forward to the World Series—and then returning to Boston to help his father, a graveyard superintendent, dig some graves this winter.

Bob Johnson, a last-minute pitching replacement when Nelson Briles reinjured a pulled hamstring muscle warming up, outdueled Marichal to pick up the victory, allowing five hits and striking out seven in eight innings.

Johnson was deprived of a complete game because the score was only 1-1 after seven and one-half innings and Manager Danny Murtaugh lifted him for a pinch-hitter. Two outs later, Hebner homered on a 1-and-2 pitch, driving the ball just inches over the rightfield fence and beyond the reach of Bobby Bonds.

"I saw Bonds against the wall," Hebner said. "I didn't think it was going out." Neither did Bonds.

"It was barely over my glove," Bonds said. "It missed by about that much." He held his thumb and index finger about five inches apart.

Between Robertson's homer in the second and Hebner's in the eighth, Marichal allowed only one hit. But Johnson was as effective, blanking the Giants except for an unearned run in the sixth when Ken Henderson singled and came all the way home as Hebner fielded Tito Fuentes' sacrifice bunt and threw it into rightfield.

"I thought there was a chance I might have to pitch today," Johnson said. "When I came to the ballpark, I was ready to go seven or eight innings."

Fox did not have much to say.

"Marichal pitched a good game, and we lost," he said. "What more can I say?"

Robertson has been the batting star of the playoffs so far, but he can't figure out what is wrong with slugger Willie Stargell, the major league home run champion who is 0-for-12 in the playoffs.

"I just hope that we can get Willie swinging the way he knows how to swing and get his stroke back so he can pick up some of the slack."

Robertson, who is 7-for-12 in the three games and has driven in six runs, said he considers himself a streak hitter and is pleased with his present hot streak, but wants to become more consistent.

"I need to mature more," he said. "And I think I am."

Kingston High Is Ranked 18th in State Poll

By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON — Three convincing shutout wins were enough to move Kingston High School's football team into the top twenty of the New York State Sports Writers Association poll this week.

The Maroons are No. 18.

"This is one of the factors that keeps the team going," said KHS Coach Tony Badalato upon learning of his team's entry into the exclusive scholastic gridiron circle. "Being an independent, the ratings become important since that's really the only thing we can shoot for. It has given the team great incentive."

Kingston has reversed an 0-8 season in 1970 with three sparkling efforts so far this year. The Maroons opened with a 21-0 whitewash of Poughkeepsie, then turned it on to the tune of 45-0 against Linton.

However it was the exciting 58-0 crushing of Troy Saturday which opened the eyes of high school pigskin buffs. The talk of Joe Riley's five touchdowns, Ralph Longendyke's interception, John Harris' defensive charges, Bruce McCrindle's kicking, and all the other aspects of the Maroons' game are now becoming well known.

"I think the biggest thing about our success so far was winning that first game," Coach Badalato declared. "That's the one that gave them confidence."

The Kingston mentor pointed out that co-captains Harris and John Tiano were more responsible for the turnaround than their on-the-field performances would indicate.

"Those two guys deserve a lot of credit. They got the team together during the summer. They wouldn't let them forget last year's record. Everyone on the team has shown a willingness to work."

Meanwhile, some people are still not convinced that Kingston is that good. They say the Maroons have yet to meet difficult opponents.

"The teams we've played have been tougher with each game," asserts Badalato. "I honestly thought the Troy game would be closer than it was. But we scored those two quick touchdowns and then they had to play catch up."

"We still do have the better teams left on our schedule but I can't take anything away from my kids now by saying something like 'the reason we've won big is because the other teams have been poor'."

KHS is off this week then hosts Middletown on Oct. 16 followed by away games at Gloversville, Amsterdam, and New Rochelle, and the finale at home against Newburgh.

So far only Amsterdam, of the soon-to-be Maroon foes, is listed on the NYSSWA poll, and it is an honorable mention with a 2-0-1 mark.

No. 1 has been retained by Vestal after it beat Newburgh, 34-28, Saturday.

Another Ulster County team was cited by sportswriters, Defending UCAL champion Highland entered the small school division in the 14 spot.

Coach Lem Atkins' 11 is currently 3-0, tied with Liberty for the 1971 UCAL lead.

Port Jervis of Orange County jumped to No. 4 in the small listing while Pine Plains was booted from its runner-up spot to honorable mention by losing to Haldane. The latter was also added to the honorable mention category.

BOOG POWELL

Sliding Big Deal For Boog

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Hey, all you Little Leaguers, get this — big Boog Powell has been up here in the majors 10 years now and still doesn't know how to slide!

No sweat though. He hits home runs instead.

The pair he belted for Baltimore in Monday's 5-1 win over Oakland put the Orioles within a spit and a holler of their fourth American League pennant in the past six seasons and you have to admit the beefy 6-foot-4, 266-pounder is a pretty fair country hitter, but when it comes to his sliding you can cover that with one word: Ouch!

"What kind of slider am I?" Powell said, repeating a question put to him. "Awful. Absolutely awful. I remember the first time I came down to Miami for spring training with this club. There was no sliding pit so I tried sliding on grass. Not so good."

The Orioles' first baseman took a deep breath.

"Somebody suggested I keep dirt in my hands a few years ago," he said. "You know how it is — when you got problems sliding they tell you to grab a handful of dirt. That's fine if you happen to be on base. What if you're not though? What if you hit the ball and have to slide into second like what happened to me in that game with Washington? You can't carry dirt with you from home plate. Next spring I guess I gotta start all over again learning how to slide. I gotta learn how to slide with my hands up."

Boog Powell tried it that way in Sunday's game with the A's. No good.

He hurt the top of his hand again. That happened a few moments after he was nearly stung by a bee while squaring himself away to hit in the batter's box.

Ralph Salvo, the Orioles' trainer, called Powell up at his home Monday morning and asked him if his hand would permit him to play.

"Absolutely," said Boog.

"Does it hurt," Salvo inquired.

"Veah," was the answer. "but I can play."

Salvo applied hot and cold treatment to Powell's hand before and after the game and Boog's first homer in the third with nobody on padded the Orioles' lead to 2-0.

He came up again with one on and one out and the score 3-0. Hunter's first two were balls and Powell then tried to bunt, not to sacrifice but to get on, and the ball went foul.

Carl Weaver then gave him a "Sun" sign, again to try to get on, but Powell fouled that one off, too.

Then came his two-run homer into the A's bullpen in right-center.

"I was really sorry about not being able to lay one down," he said. "I tried to. I can bunt pretty good."

Sliding is something else though.

Powell knows it.

"Look, I don't give you no fadeaway or hooks," he says. "Those aren't for me. I know the right way to slide. They say you should throw your head back and your hands automatically will come up."

Yeah, that's what they say but it's tough on a man of Boog Powell's proportions. Much tougher than it would be for a lighter man.

"Naturally," he says. "You gotta remember you're putting a lot more on the ground."

Is Penn State Next Victim For Coach of Week Cahill?

NEW YORK (UPI)—First Georgia Tech. Then Missouri. Now, if Army's Tom Cahill can mastermind another upset over Penn State, he'd be a leading candidate for Coach of the Year honors.

But Cahill is happy to accept one victory and one distinction at a time. For his team's 22-6 win over Missouri last Saturday, Cahill was selected as United Press International's Coach of the Week.

"I'm delighted," said Cahill when informed of the honor. "It's wonderful. But all I can think about right now is Penn State."

The Nittany Lions, tied for the 11th spot on UPI's top 20, are undefeated this season and the oddsmakers consider them 20 points better than Army, now 2-1.

However, being the underdog hasn't stopped Army from playing good football. In fact, it's helped them. The Cadets were 28-point underdogs to Georgia Tech two weeks ago and when Coach Cahill and his team read in an Atlanta newspaper the night before the game that they were picked to lose 34-3, Army's blood started to boil.

"When we saw that score, it just didn't sit well with our squad," said Cahill. Army went out into the hot Georgia sun the next day and stung the Yellowjackets, 16-13. "It took me two steps to hit the dressing room after the game," Cahill laughed.

But Cahill didn't have too much time to celebrate. "We can't look back in the sunshine too long," he said after the Tech game. "I've got Missouri this week."

Cahill was right. He did have Missouri — right by the throat. Although Army was rated a six-point underdog to the physically bigger Tigers from the Big Eight, the Cadets rallied behind sophomore quarterback King stey Fink to win in the second half.

"The spirit that is prevailing at West Point right now is as high as I've seen it," said Cahill. "Our last two games were both great victories. Wins like that do a lot for a coach."

Cahill said he expected to start Fink against Penn State this Saturday in place of Dick Atha. Three starters who sat out against Missouri will play against the Nittany Lions.

"We've built up momentum now. Hopefully we'll be able to maintain it against Penn State."

At his home in Detroit, Johnson expressed pleasure at the trade.

"I'm not really surprised," he said. "I knew I couldn't do it (play) in California ... that's for sure."

Cleveland General Manager Gabe Paul, said, "Johnson has the ability to be a superstar. He can do everything. He is a very clean living, highly sensitive fellow with high moral standards and with great talent. We're fortunate to be able to get him."

ANAHEIM (UPI) — The California Angels figure they made a good deal sending Alex Johnson to Cleveland since it was apparent the heavy-hitting outfielder would never be happy with the local club.

The Angels sent Johnson and catcher Jerry Moses to the Indians in exchange for outfielders Vada Pinson, 33, and Frank Baker, 27, and a fine pitching prospect, Alan Foster, 24, a former Los Angeles Dodger.

Johnson, 28, was suspended without pay by the Angels on June 26 when he failed to run out a ground ball. He had been fined several times previously for lack of hustle.

"We are pleased with the trade," said Angel General Manager Dick Walsh. "We obtained an established player in Pinson, an everyday outfielder. Foster is a prospect, a young starter who had his best year. Baker will be vying for one of the outfield jobs. We made the best possible deal for Johnson."

Johnson scored a victory over the Angels just a week ago when a three-man labor panel awarded him back pay of $29,170. A psychiatrist testified during a panel hearing he was under emotional stress and should have been treated as a sick person and put on the disabled list with pay.

Perry Monroe Holds Lead in Scoring

KINGSTON

Perry Monroe continues to lead the Ulster County Athletic League's football scoring race but the margin is diminishing. Monroe, defending champ from Highland High School, has recorded five touchdowns in his team's three games for 30 points.

But with a three TD effort in his squad's win over Ellenville Saturday, Joe Williams of New Paltz has pulled into second place with four touchdowns and two conversion points for 26.

Highland back John Barrington is third with three touchdowns and four PATs for 22 points.

Bill Reid of Red Hook, John Langling of Ontario, and Mark Walther of Wallkill have 18 points. Next comes Joe Pais of Red Hook with 15.

Ron Monroe of Highland, Jay Ackert of New Paltz, and Milton Herring of Marlboro complete the top 10 with 14 points apiece.

Knicks Beat Atlanta

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rookie Deen Meminger, showing all the poise of a veteran, scored 16 points Tuesday night as the New York Knicks defeated Atlanta 112-91 and cracked the Hawks' seven game exhibition winning streak.

Leroy Ellis scored 10 of Los Angeles' first 14 points in the final quarter to pace the Lakers to a 113-108 triumph over the Detroit Pistons in the opener of a pre-season doubleheader.

Meminger, an All-American from Marquette, penetrated the Hawks' defense almost at will. A surprise starter, Meminger directed the Knicks for 34 minutes, during which time he shared scoring honors with Willis Reed.

The Knicks' acquisition of Jerry Lucas from the Golden State Warriors continued to pay dividends as he led the boardmen with 10 rebounds and scored 10 points as Atlanta suffered its first loss in exhibition play.

Herm Gilliam paced Atlanta with 15 points and Jeff Halliburton netted 14.

Atlanta coach Richie Guerin said absentee Pete Maravich will be sidelined two to three weeks with his case of mononucleosis.

Lions Turn Tables on Karras

DETROIT (UPI)—When Alex Karras was dropped by the Detroit Lions, he made it clear the team hadn't heard the last from him.

Now the tables have been turned.

The Lions are trying to determine whether the outspoken former defensive tackle is violating his lingering contract through his outside writing activities.

Since Karras was released on waivers by the National Football League club two weeks ago, he has started writing a press column they must ask our permission. I've never been asked by Karras or by the Press in addition to hosting a television show in Chicago.

Lyall Smith, Lions public relations director, brought out the possible contract violation when asked why Karras had been denied use of the press box Sunday in connection with his work for the Free Press.

"Under terms of his contract," Smith said, "we are to pay him this year and next in full ($35,000 annually). If any one under contract wants his own television show or writes a column for the Detroit Free Press, he must ask our permission. I've never been asked by Karras or by the Press in addition to hosting a television show in Chicago."

"If the contract's good for him, is it good for us?" Smith said. "I don't know. That's the question our attorneys are looking at now."

Smith said Karras had not asked for a press pass to have involved here is if they're going to tell us who we can use to cover the games," Smith said. "That's something we've never seen or heard."

Puscas added, "It hasn't come said of the television program. Karras has been critical of the Lions' management both columns for the Free Press so before and after his release."

PPK Winners To Sectionals

KINGSTON

The winners of last week's Punt, Pass, and Kick competition for the Kingston area go to Hudson on Saturday for the sectional phase of the annual event.

The five, Kirk Jacob, 15, Jerry Hart, 13, Kevin McLane, 12, James Kerr, 11, Carl Barnes, and Jeffery DeLisio, 8, were survivors of the local competition held in Forsyth Park. Eighty-four boys in all vied for honors.

Next for the winners of the sectionals is a trip to New Orleans during Super Bowl week for the finals.

Kingston sponsor Ross Johnson, local Ford dealer, and Bernie Carpenelli, City Jaycee Project Chairman, both expressed thanks to all concerned with the Forsyth Park contest.

Bob Berry Named In Spite of Lions

NEW YORK (AP) — "It's frustrating, that's all," Bob Berry muttered.

It was, indeed. The quarterback for the Atlanta Falcons had just completed 13 of 23 passes for 309 yards and three touchdowns against Detroit's usually stiff defense—but the Lions had still won 41-38.

Despite the outcome, however, Berry's brilliant individual performance won him honors today as the National Football League's Offensive Player of the Week.

He edged out quarterback John Brodie of San Francisco and Minnesota running back Dave Osborn for The Associated Press' weekly award.

Berry repeatedly drove the Falcons back within striking distance after Detroit had taken big leads Sunday, but in the end it was a 13-yard, fourth-quarter Errol Mann field goal that gave the Lions their margin of victory.

"It's the same kind of frustrating day as the last one was," Berry said, recalling his aerial barrage a week earlier when he hit 15 of 22 passes for 301 yards and a touchdown, only to end up sharing a 20-20 tie with Los Angeles due to a last-second, 47-yard field goal by David Ray of the Rams.

"Sometimes you wonder what you have to do to win," he sighed. "I surely can't remember putting 38 points on the scoreboard and losing."

The 5-foot-9, 189-pound, six-year veteran from Oregon began his valiant but futile fire-works against Detroit with the Falcons already trailing by two touchdowns when he tossed a 13-yard scoring strike to Jim Mitchell.

In the second quarter, the 29-year-old Berry connected on a 56-yard bomb to Ken Burrow, then teamed up with the rookie wide receiver again in the third period, this time on a 25-yarder.

Brodie completed 14 of 28 passes for 262 yards and three touchdowns against the helpless Eagles in the 49ers' 31-3 breeze while Osborn rambled for 93 yards and added 65 on five pass receptions, scoring a touchdown in the Vikings' 19-0 smothering of Buffalo.

Also earning consideration were running backs Marv Hubbard of Oakland, John Brockington of Green Bay and Charley Harraway of Washington, plus New York Giants quarterback Fran Tarkenton.

Albany HS Beats SHS

ALBANY — The harriers of Saugerties High School travelled to the capital yesterday to open their cross-country season against Albany Academy and came back on the short end of a 20-39 score.

A fourth place finish by Sawyer co-captain Rich Franchini was the locals' best effort over the 2.3 mile Albany course. Mark Langer's 11:58 was the best time of the day, followed by teammates Rick Rowley at 12:10 and Fred Kitzlow at 12:12. Franchini's clocking was 12:19.

Pete Timmins cross the wire in the fifth position, and Don Brown garnered seventh place to be the third Sawyer in the top ten.

Friday Saugerties ventures to Kingston and will try to break into the win column against the Maroon.

Poly-Turf Firm
To Check Field

MIAMI (UPI)—The firm which manufactures the Orange Bowl's poly-turf said it would dispatch representatives to Miami today to find out why the football field played more like the surface for a National Hockey League game Sunday.

The slipping and sliding over the poly-turf was visible in films of the Dolphins loss to the New York Jets Sunday and the Dolphins, the city of Miami, Notre Dame, and the manufacturers—Biltrite Inc.—want to know what happened.

The analogy to ice might not be precise, since the artificial turf reached a temperature of 112 degrees during the game, but it was slippery enough to be a factor in the 14-10 Jet win.

The films of the game reviewed Tuesday showed players slipped and slid 59 times on the big rug—33 slips for the Dolphins and 26 for the Jets.

But football games are still won by points, not slides, and Dolphins Coach Don Shula put it bluntly Tuesday: "Something's got to be done about it."

Major College Title For Tennis Ace, Zeeh

KINGSTON — Bill Zeeh, one of Ulster County's all-time tennis greats, has added another major title to his collection.

Teaming with Austrian-born Pete Valano, a teammate with the East Stroudsburg (Pa.) State College varsity, Zeeh won the Eastern Collegiate Doubles Championship in the tournament held at Princeton and Rider last weekend.

Zeeh and Valano defeated the Fordham University doubles team in the finals, 6-2, 6-2. Zeeh swept past Albany State U. in straight love sets, 6-0, 6-0 in their first round match.

The champions got past West Chester State, 6-3 and 6-2 but ran into stiff opposition in the price freeze.

Zeeh described the victory as "the biggest tennis win in my life." He said it was even more gratifying "because it was my first victory under my new life."

Dr. Charles Wolbers, a nationally known tennis coach, said Zeeh and Valano were "the best of the best."

Wolbers compiled an impressive record at New Paltz while Zeeh was a student there.

The next stop for Zeeh is the Middle Atlantic States Championships next month.

City League Will Honor Three Stars

KINGSTON — Two former pitching greats of the City League will be honored at Davis and Edmund (Bud) Zol's first annual City League Testimonial Dinner Wednesday, Oct. 13, at Tommy's Rest.

The trio to be honored include

Ski Minne Sets Open House

LAKE MINNESWASKA

An open house tour of the new chair lift area at Ski Minnewaska will be held Sunday at 2 p.m., with the public invited. Refreshments will be served at the top of the chair lift site.

Construction of the new area is progressing well. Three new trails have been cut, the longest run being almost 3,500 feet in length.

Leo Wojciechowski of Kingston supervised the cutting of the new trails and Roehrs Construction of Clintondale is doing much of the earthmoving.

The chairlift has been purchased from a Pennsylvania firm noted in the field.

Setting of the footings for the new lift will begin next Monday. Upon their completion, the company will take over the construction. The double State University before transferring to Stroudsburg.

It will be 2,100 feet long with a vertical rise of 385 feet and carry 1,200 persons per hour. The lift increases Ski Minnewaska's uphill capacity to 3,600 persons per hour.

Expansion of the Ski Minnewaska area is being financed by a bond issue. Persons interested in the project are invited to the open house.

Edward P. Murphy, a former City League pitching star and member of the Old Timers Baseball Association Hall of Fame, conceived the idea of the testimonial.

"I think there are several former City League players who are deserving of recognition," said Murphy. "They should be honored before they are completely forgotten."

Murphy did not indicate if the testimonial dinner is about to launch another baseball veterans organization in the city. The Old Timers Association for several years conducted annual installations into its Hall of Fame, but has been inactive in recent years.

Murphy said that since the seating capacity is limited, he suggested early reservations. Tickets may be obtained from Murphy at 323 Wall Street, Kingston; from James Volker at Tommy's Rest, and Nekos Pharmacy.

Booster Club Meets Thursday

KINGSTON — The Kingston High School football booster club will hold its regular meeting on Thursday at 8 p.m. in the KHS Vocational Building Room 417.

Films of the Kingston-Troy game will be shown.

The boosters also plan a bake sale on Friday from 5-8 p.m. in the Kingston Plaza in front of Grand Union.

Willie Lanier Best Lineman

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs call middle linebacker Willie Lanier "The Bear."

The Denver Broncos will agree that the nickname fits. Lanier was very much a bear on the prowl in the Bronco backfield last Sunday in Kansas City's 16-3 American Football Conference victory over Denver.

The bruising Lanier made eight unassisted tackles and was credited with two assists, broke up a pass play and recovered a fumble at the Chiefs' 35-yard line when the Broncos, leading 3-0, threatened to pad their margin in the first quarter.

For his performance, Lanier was named The Associated Press defensive player of the week, an honor bestowed on Willie for the first time.

"It's great to get a first," Lanier said today. "An accolade is always pleasant but my teammates on defense were terrific. I always try to play consistently on defense in every game."

"Sometimes you get a feeling for a particular game, and I had a good feeling Sunday about the game with the Broncos. It turned out pretty well. Yes, it's nice to get something for the first time."

That was all Willie had to say about Mr. Lanier, the ringleader of the defense that limited Denver to nine first downs.

Teammate Aaron Brown had a few words about Willie. "We were fantastic," Brown said. "When they had a yard or a half yard to go for a first down, Willie stopped them."

Floyd Little, the Denver running back, had something to say, too. "Everytime I carried the ball," Little said, "Lanier tackled me."

Lanier tackled Little three times in the first quarter for six yards gained, once halting the flashy Bronco for no gain on a third down and one situation. He stopped Bob Anderson's bid for one-half yard on a third down thrust.

Ironically, if Lanier hadn't been tapped as last weekend's top defensive player, the honor likely would have gone to a player who opposed the Chiefs, Denver's Dave Washington.

New Paltz Defeats Coleman in Soccer

John A. Coleman's soccer team suffered their third defeat in four games this season falling 5-1 at the hands of New Paltz here.

Inside left Charlie Greco hit a goal for the Coleman kickers early in the third period to make it a 2-1 contest. But the Huggies' Bucky Sutter got it back at the 8:32 mark, and added a second score at 4:48 of the fourth to put the game out of reach.

New Paltz outshot the Coleman team 35-17, and gave Jim Cranston, the Statesman goalie, a good workout in the nets. He finished the game with 16 saves.

Sports Briefs

New Zealand Team
NEW YORK (UPI)—The team of Bob Charles and John Lister will represent New Zealand in the 19th World Cup golf championships Nov. 11-14 at the PGA National Golf Club in Palm Beach, Fla. Charles will be making his eighth appearance and Lister his third.

Player Limit Reached

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—The Portland Trail Blazers reached the 12-player National Basketball Association limit Tuesday by returning forward John Baum to the Chicago Bulls. He had been obtained on a conditional basis.

Gad, Zooks

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Zook of Larned, Kan., will get in a lot of football-watching this season. They have sons playing in high school, college and pro competition. Dale is a defensive back for Larned High. Dean is a defensive back and wide receiver for Kansas U. and John is defensive end for the Atlanta Falcons.

Bucks and Kareem Jabbar Favored to Repeat

Willis Reed - Jerry West Keys to NBA Races

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willis Reed of New York and Jerry West of Los Angeles, a pair of crippled superstars, hold the keys to their teams' chances of beating Milwaukee's defending champions for the National Basketball Association title this season.

Reed, the Knicks' captain and center, and West, the Lakers' prolific scoring guard both underwent knee operations following the 1970-71 season. How well they have recuperated will help determine how far their clubs can go this season which begins Oct. 12.

Reed, the league's Most Valuable Player when the Knicks won their first league championship in 1969-70, played with two bad knees and an aching shoulder in last season's playoffs. But he was not as effective as usual, and the Knicks were upset by the Baltimore Bullets in the semifinals.

West never even got into the playoffs—although the Lakers did. He was injured March 3 in a game against Buffalo and missed the rest of the season.

The Lakers will start this season with their three superstars—Wilt Chamberlain, West and Elgin Baylor—together again. Baylor was sidelined virtually all of last season with an injured Achilles tendon. Los Angeles also will have a new coach—Bill Sharman, who guided Utah to the American Basketball Association title—as the Lakers seek to repeat as Pacific Division champions.

The Knicks, aiming for their second consecutive Atlantic Division crown, have obtained veteran Jerry Lucas from the Golden State Warriors as insurance in case Reed's knee gives way.

New York's toughest opposition in the Atlantic Division should come from Philadelphia and Boston. Philadelphia is led by Billy Cunningham, a member of the All-'BA' first team for three consecutive years; 21 point scorer Archie Clark and ageless Hal Greer, who joined the 20,000-point club last season.

Veteran John Havlicek, second in the league in scoring, fourth in assists, tops in minutes played and a first team All-Star, heads an otherwise young and improving Boston club.

Buffalo, the other Atlantic Division team, has added 7-1 rookie Elmore Smith and veterans Walt Hazzard and Jerry Chambers in a trade with Atlanta.

The renamed Golden State Warriors, still located in San Francisco but playing their home games in Oakland and San Diego, and the Seattle SuperSonics should furnish Los Angeles' toughest competition in the Pacific Division.

The Warriors have obtained dynamic Cazzie Russell from New York and high-scoring Jim Barnett from Portland to supplement 20-point marksman Nate Thurmond and Jeff Mullins.

Seattle, with two standout backcourt men in player-coach Lenny Wilkens and Dick Snyder, will have ex-Olympic and ABA star Spencer Haywood for his first full NBA season and center Bob Rule, sidelined most of the 70-71 campaign because of surgery on his Achilles tendon.

Houston, the NBA's first franchise in Texas, and Portland complete the Pacific Division, the only five-team division in the league. Houston, last season's San Diego club, has a new coach in Tex Winter from Kansas State and an established star in center Elvin Hayes, third in scoring and rebounding.

Portland depends on Geoff Petrie's co-rookie of the year and the seventh player in NBA history to score 2,000 points in his first year. Powerful forward Sidney Wicks, an All-American from UCLA's NCAA championship squad, and guard Charley Yelverton from Fordham, the Trail Blazers, top two draft picks, should be valuable additions.

Milwaukee, defending Midwest Division, Western Conference and NBA champion, returns with the same awesome starting five that carried it all the way.

Kareem Jabbar, formerly known as Lew Alcindor, the league's scoring leader and Most Valuable Player, leads the Bucks' brilliant cast. Oscar Robertson, the veteran backcourt star acquired from Cincinnati last season, again will direct the Bucks' unwavering attack.

Even though the Bucks played in the toughest division—all four teams finished with over .500 records—they wound up 15 games ahead of runner-up Chicago.

The Bulls, led by Coach of the Year Dick Motta and paced on the floor by forwards Bob Love and Chet Walker, should be stronger with 6-8½ Howard Porter the Most Valuable Player in last season's NCAA tournament.

Curtis Rowe, Detroit's top draft choice from UCLA, figures to add rebounding strength to the Pistons who already have 6-11 Bob Lanier and high-scoring guards Dave Bing and Jimmy Walker.

Connie Hawkins and Dick Van Arsdale, a pair of 20-point scorers for Phoenix should get help from rookie Dennis Layton of Southern California.

Baltimore, defending Central Division champion and the game, Maravich could improve Cleveland's woeful Cavaliers, beaten finalist in last season's playoffs, boasts a veteran start-Lou Hudson and Don May, the in the league. But a broken unit in Wes Unseld, Gus later acquired from Buffalo, bone in his foot will keep Carr However, Johnson, Monroe and Loughery all have been plagued by injuries in the past.

Cincinnati's helter-skelter offense, led by Tom Van Arsdale, should get a boost from 6-7 Ken Durrett, the Royals' No. 1 draft pick from LaSalle.

The woman was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for injuries to the head, chest and ribs.

Police also cited her for the unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle and driving a registered car.

Discussion of birth control by the 209 synod delegates, including 142 bishops from six continents, could provoke a challenge to the ban on artificial birth control decreed by Pope Paul VI in the encyclical "Humanae Vitae" in 1968.

Prior to the issuance of "Humanae Vitae," a secret papal advisory commission, including doctors, psychologists and laymen, advocated a change in the traditional church ban on contraception.

Subsequently, a number of

More dramatically, however, Father McCormack said the synod should "insist that when family planning programs are judged to be necessary and are even already in operation, a program of regulation of birth should be integrated into an attitude to love, sex, marriage and the family, which respects the dignity of the individual and of the couple." This amounts to a call for the Church to back organized birth control programs, which are virtually all conducted with artificial means.

Poland Offers Help

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Poland offered the United Nations Tuesday a stand-by force of its army for possible use in peace-keeping operations. Poland was the second Soviet bloc nation to offer its troops for U.N. peace keeping, the other being Czechoslovakia two years ago.

Your Horoscope

Thursday, October 7

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Many events occur quickly today and tonight so be on the alert for them. Show you are one who thinks logically and understands and promotes the interests of everyone involved. A fine day and evening to get out of routines and make a new name and place for yourself.
 ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have excellent ideas that only require talking over with experts before putting in operation. If a worthwhile investment is extended, accept quickly. Dress in fine style.
 TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) It's fine to want to improve your life financially, but don't just jump into a new course without knowing enough about the project. A wise person gives excellent advice. Listen carefully and then follow it.
 GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have many personal aims but make certain you follow through only on those that are worthwhile and forget the others. Gather all the information you can. Study it well for future use.
 MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have many questions that can easily be answered if you contact experts. You are able to get assistance quietly that can help make your plans work beautifully. Don't waste time with boring people.
 LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you listen carefully to what good friends have to say, you get many wonderful ideas that can be of help in your career. Being cooperative instead of forceful gets you fine results. Do some important studying tonight.
 VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Getting into public affairs is good provided you do not irritate a bigwig by making some thoughtless comment. Get your duties attended to in a most precise way. Evening ideal for romance.
 LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are planning some trip that is not wise, so forget it. Stick to right principle instead.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

THREE MONTHS, 30 YEARS: I've loved Bob three months and he loves me. But there's a problem: He's 45 and I'm 15.
 He wants us to elope to Tijuana. That's in Mexico. No one would understand. My dad would have a cow. My mother would have a nervous breakdown.
 Despite my love for him, I can't quite bring myself to quit school. He said he could wait. I don't know if I can. I'm still a virgin, but it gets more frustrating every day. Please help me.—In Love in Oklahoma.
 (A.) You know what the answer is, but I will spell it out. A-B-C fashion.
 Forget him. Finish school. Get interested in someone your own age.
 Now do it. Be sensible. Don't be a candidate for a nervous breakdown of your own.
 BATH BATTLE: (Q.) My problem is a bathroom problem. I am one of four boys in our family. Every morning when we get in the bathroom our baby sister (she's the only girl) tells my mother she has to use the bathroom.
 So my mother comes and runs all us boys out so my sister can use it. But when she gets through she doesn't want to get out so we can finish what we were doing before we got run out. I need some advice on what to do.—Shut Out in Texas.
 (A.) Talk to your mother—not in the morning when your sister wants in the bathroom or is already in it, but some afternoon or evening when things are quiet. Ask her to make rules about using the bathroom in the morning.
 Limits can be set on the time each of you is to spend there. A regular order of using it can be arranged. Time can be saved, also tempers. And everyone will get his or her fair allotment of time. Also mornings at your house will be orderly instead of out of control.
 Try to wait a while.
 (Jean Adams has quick, mini answers for the following problems: Losing Weight, Small Bust, Specific Spot Exercises, Double Chin, Gaining Weight, Walking, Sitting, Good Posture. The Stag Sleuthing at End

NEW YORK (AP) — After a month of stag sleuthing, NBC's "Ironside" acquired a new female aide Tuesday night. She is officer Fran Belding, daughter of a slain police captain and a pretty emotional type for a lady cop.

Elizabeth Baur, who has replaced Barbara Anderson in the "Ironside" family, was the center of a complicated story—and a lesser "Ironside" offering—and some professional gamblers plotting to destroy the wheel-chair detective.

A pretty brunette, fresh out of police academy, she arrived on the scene doing a little off-duty investigating about the murder of her father, suspected of working with the gamblers. Miss Baur's initial contribution consisted of some maladroit detective work and demonstrating hysterical animosity toward Chief Ironside.

But in the epilog, after her father's name had been cleared and the bad guys were either dead or under arrest, she was to join the group and was even flirting a bit with Sgt. Brown.

In truth, however, the "Ironside" series has done nicely this season without distasteful representation. It has beaten Nielsen ratings so far, CBS' "Glen Campbell Show" is a poor third in the time spot.

ABC's "Movie of the Week" was undoubtedly a television first: The villain was a population control. It was an unpleasant fantasy set some time in the future when the nation has become a Fascist state with laws limiting every couple to one child and forbidding medication for all persons over 65.

Michael Cole and Janet Margolin played a young couple whose first child had died and they were about to have a second, illegal one. A Gestapo-like "Bureau of Population Control" sets out to get them with a grim, tireless officer.

Of special interest was the performance by the late Van Heflin—his final acting assignment. He played a 72-year-old former U.S. senator kept alive by insulin bootlegged to him by a friendly doctor. He decided to befriend the couple, who were trying to escape to Canada where they would be allowed to have the child.

His was a rather superficial role, but the actor managed to invest the platitudes with dignity and persuasion so that they sounded like noble philosophy.

In basic standard American or JACOBY MODERN the response of three of a minor suit to a one no-trump opening suggests a slam. Advanced bidders usually prefer to respond with a Stayman two-club call and then bid the minor to invite the slam.

Therefore, South knew that North was interested in a slam. In spite of holding a maximum no-trump, South signed off at three no-trump because he only held two diamonds. North didn't like no-trump, but since his partner had shown four spades he decided to let the hand play there. It was a good decision. South had 10 sure tricks and the heart lead gave him an 11th.

The game was IMP team and it turned out to be quite a swing. North played five diamonds at the other table. A spade was opened. He went right up with South's ace. Later on he had to lose a trump and the club finesse. Then he misguessed the queen of hearts and managed to be set one trick.

There is no interest to the play at three no-trump, but there is to five diamonds. North could have practically insured his contract by playing the 10 of spades from dummy at trick one. This would present a spade trick to the opponents but West would be forced to give back that trick with interest later in the play.

New Amendment Sought on War

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate, which already has voted for total American withdrawal from Vietnam by spring, was asked today to cut off funds for the war beginning Feb. 3 unless free elections are held in South Vietnam.

Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., called up his amendment requiring the President, as a condition for continuing U.S. air or ground operations in South Vietnam beyond Feb. 3, to certify in writing that Democratic elections have taken place there. "It is an unpleasant fact that we must face the result of Vietnam's recent elections," Montoya said, noting that President Nguyen Van Thieu ran without opposition in Sunday's balloting. "President Thieu ignored American requests for a competitive exercise in the democratic process, flaunting the fact that his power rests on an American military presence," Montoya said. "My amendment would make him face the loss of our military support very rapidly unless he alters his methods of governing and a free election is guaranteed the Vietnamese people." The vote on Montoya's amendment was set as the Senate rushed a $21 billion military procurement bill to completion. A vote on the measure—$1 billion less than President Nixon sought for new and improved weapons—was expected late today. The Senate already has attached a rider proposed by Sen. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield that would establish a national policy of withdrawal from Indochina in six months unless North Vietnam refuses to release U.S. prisoners of war. Other than the Mansfield amendment, the Senate has made little change in the procurement bill as it emerged from the Armed Services Committee two months ago. Efforts by military cost-cutters to halt such controversial new weapons as the MBT70 tank, the F14 fighter and the B1 bomber fell far short of the votes. Sen. James L. Buckley, the New York Conservative Republican, asked the Senate for extra funds to improve the accuracy and range of U.S. Minuteman and Poseidon nuclear-tipped missiles.

But, by votes of 68 to 12 and 66 to 17, members rejected Buckley's suggestion that the missiles be made accurate enough to destroy Soviet nuclear weapons in their underground silos before they can be unleashed.

Two U.S. Air Attacks Inside N. Viet

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. military command today announced two more American air attacks against North Vietnamese territory after Communist antiaircraft batteries apparently threatened U.S. B52s bombing the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos.

The command said U.S. F105 fighter-bombers carried out the raids inside North Vietnam Monday and Tuesday. They were the 65th and 66th of what the military calls "protective reaction strikes" this year.

Military spokesmen said two F105s escorted B52s over Laos Monday evening detected a beam from North Vietnamese radar, indicating antiaircraft guns were tracking them and preparing to fire. The F105s fired missiles against two radar sites north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). Results were unknown.

On Tuesday night two F105s escorted B52s near Mu Gia Pass 75 miles north of the DMZ also detected North Vietnamese radar beams and one of the jets fired rockets against the antiaircraft site.

In ground action, South Vietnamese troops who inflicted the worst defeat of the year against the North Vietnamese army fanned out today on both sides of the Cambodian border in a mop-up of stragglers.

American B52s carried out raids in support of the South Vietnamese.

The U.S. command ended the 13-day gray alert which kept American GIs confined to their bases during South Vietnam's Oct. 3 presidential election.

South Vietnamese paratroopers searching an area six miles from the Cambodian border killed 17 North Vietnamese in fighting Tuesday in which three South Vietnamese were killed and 17 wounded.

Military spokesmen said the Communist unit was thought to be part of the same North Vietnamese force which was mauled by the ARVN during an attempt to drive the allies from Cambodia's Highway 7 and its environs last week.

Allied ground air and artillery killed at least 364 men of the North Vietnamese 5th Infantry Division in the fighting as the Communists tried to flee to a sanctuary across the Cambodian border from Vietnam, allied spokesmen said. They said it was the largest single setback for the Communists this year.

The North Vietnamese poured 130 artillery shells into South Vietnamese Fire Base Alpha four miles northeast of the Cambodian town of Khek in an 11-hour period Tuesday. The base is two miles from where South Vietnamese rangers and cavalrymen trapped and cut to pieces a North Vietnamese unit the previous day.

Attica Ruling Expected On Harassment Charges

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—Federal Judge John T. Curtin was expected to rule late today on a suit charging Attica prison officials and guards with harassment of inmates after the bloody revolt ended Sept. 13.

Hearings on the suit, brought in behalf of Attica inmates by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), were concluded Tuesday. Curtin said he would issue a decision from the bench today at 2 p.m.

Attorneys sought court orders to place federal monitors in the prison to observe the treatment of prisoners, to halt a state probe by Deputy State Atty. Gen. Robert E. Fischer into the riot, and to enjoin prison officials from further disposing of inmates' personal property.

Fischer scheduled a news conference today in the Buffalo State Office Building on his organized crime task force investigation on Attica and its investigative personnel.

Curtin had denied earlier motions by the attorneys, including one that sought to prohibit the questioning of inmates unless their lawyers are present.

Six Attica inmates testified during the hearings and five of them alleged they were harassed and threatened with death by prison guards after the state police assault.

The other inmate said he was assigned to a clean up detail and told of the alleged destruction of inmates' belongings, including legal papers, after the rebellion was quelled.

State Assemblyman Arthur O. Eve, D-Buffer, testified Tuesday he and other legislators were given a post-riot tour by Deputy State Corrections Commissioner Walter Dunbar, who told them "how hostages had their throats slashed and how an Officer (Michael) Smith was castrated and had his organs stuffed in his mouth."

A state official said in Albany that no castrations had taken place and that Smith was shot "low in the groin." Smith is in a Batavia hospital.

Eve said he saw four, fully clothed inmates laying face down in "A" cellblock yard and recognized one of them as Elliott "L.D." Barkley.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the man saw was Barkley," Eve said. "Dunbar told us all four men were still alive."

Barkley was identified by corrections officials as among the 42 inmates and prison employees who were killed during or as a result of the uprising.

In other developments Tuesday: A union representing state prison guards called off a statewide "lock-in" of prisoners in their cells threatened for Thursday. A union spokesman said the job action was dropped because state officials agreed to provide, among other things, "security for both corrections officers and inmates."

The Buffalo Evening News reported that, during secret interviews, four inmates alleged some 25 "hard core" agitators led the Sept. 9 rioting, and were aided by about 200-300 other convicts.

Firearm Ban Credited With Easing Tensions

WILMINGTON, N.C. (UPI)—Police Chief H. E. Williamson today credited an emergency ban on firearms with easing racial tension for the first time in five nights.

Williamson said the five-day ban on public possession of guns was the key factor in halting a wave of sniper fire in black neighborhoods and in muting the anger of armed whites.

"I think this state of emergency has given us the tools that we've been needing to take care of one of the problems that was causing our trouble so that we can concentrate on the other problem, sniping," Williamson said.

Joint Proclamation Made Mayor D. B. Swarz and the chairman of the New Hanover County Board of Commissioners, Meares Harris, joined Tuesday in an emergency proclamation prohibiting public possession of firearms until 5 p.m. Sunday.

A caravan of whites drove through the troubled black areas Tuesday night, threatening to return any fire. There was none, and police found no weapons in the 14 vehicles. "We knew weapons were supposed to be in the cars," Williamson said. "We were of the opinion at the time that weapons were on them."

The whites were a "vigilante patrol," sent out by Leroy Gibson, president of the militant "Rights of White People" organization.

The group staged its nightly meeting in Hugh McRae Park, about five miles from the black areas near the center of the city. Only about 100 persons showed up.

No Incidents Reported In the black neighborhoods, the scene of intermittent sniper fire since Friday, there were no incidents reported.

"Tonight has been a below normal night for this department in its activities," Williamson said Tuesday night. "Tension is easing."

A port city of 50,000, Wilmington has been simmering with racial discord since last winter over a new school desegregation plan. Violence flared Friday night at a high school football game when black and white students began fighting. The fighting quickly turned into rock throwing and sniper fire in black residential sections.

Three policemen were wounded while driving through the area Saturday night and two others were hurt Sunday night by sniper blasts. A white man was shot to death by a black Monday night, police said, in what they termed a "neighborhood shooting."
